WILSON WILL AID IN PROBE

Attorney General Coming to Help Mr. Scovel in Digging in State Mutual.

PROSECUTOR ASKED FOR HIS ASSISTANCE

Attorney General Wilson, at the request of Prosecutor Scovel, will be present before the Grand Jury on Monday to assist the legal department in the investigation of the State Mutual Building and Loan Association. The officials at the office of the Prosecutor say that everything is working satisfactorily so far, but that it was thought best to have the services of the State's attorney present.

Judge Garrison when before the Grand Jury yesterday afternoon cleared up many doubtful law points which the Grand Jury desired to know.

The Attorney-General, as the head of the legal department of the State, has been called by the Prosecutor because the investigation is so far-reaching that Mr. Scovel felt that the Attorney-General should be present to assist in unravelling the matter and to satisfy the public.

Nothing will be left undone to place blame for criminality if it exists.

As the investigation progresses the mismanagement of the association is more apparent, and the many questionable acts will be thoroughly probed, and all witnesses are being carefully examined for the purpose of getting at the exact truth of the situation.

Attorney-General Wilson at first hesitated to take up the probe himself on account of the proprieties. Years ago he had been a director of the State Mutual Building and Loan Association, but as several members of the Grand Jury are holders of State Mutual stock, which Judge Garrison had told them was no bar to their acting as jurymen, they could not in that Mr. Wilson's old connection with the association barred him.

State Senator Samuel K. Robbins and Thomas E. French, receivers were in conference with Assistant Prosecutor Wolverton this morning for some time.

On Monday the Grand Jury will have some of the officers before them as witnesses.

D'AMON DRAWS WELL AT EAGLES' FESTIVAL

Last night's attendance at the bazaar of Camden Aerie, No. 65, F. O. E., 415 Broadway, was the largest during the fair. So great was the desire to see Chester D'Amon that his stay was prolonged an hour beyond the original time. D'Amon will positively appear to-night and talk with as many as is possible during the time limit.

To-night the Naval Reserves Band, of 40 pieces, will give a concert and in commemoration of Lincoln's Birthday and the first anniversary of the laying of the corner stone of the new building there will be a splendid program. The $500 Victor talking machine continues to delight thousands.

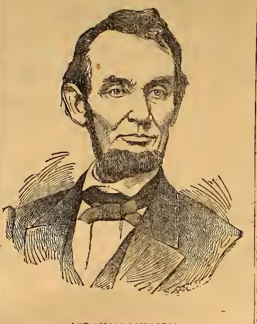
CAMDEN PAYING HOMAGE TO MEMORY OF LINCOLN



ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Born February 12, 1809 Shot by J. Wilkes Booth in Ford's Theatre, Washington, on April 14, 1865, and Died the Next Day.

Under weather conditions most inviting Camden is to-day paying homage to the memory of Abraham Lincoln. The national colors are generously displayed throughout the city, the city and county offices are closed and this afternoon at 2 o'clock hundreds of men and women gathered in Broadway M. E. Church to participate in a meeting under the auspices of the city, arrangements for which had been made by a committee of fifteen citizens appointed by Mayor Ellis.

When Committee Chairman Charles R. Bacon called the assemblage to order and presented Mayor Ellis as master of ceremonies the spacious auditorium was filled by a splendid audience, made up of the city's representative people. With members of the Grand Army posts and the auxiliary societies occupying seats directly in front of the platform, with the members of the committee grouped about Mayor Ellis and with Old Glory lavishly displayed throughout the handsome sanctuary the scene presented was indeed an inspiring one.

Following brief remarks by Mr. Bacon and Mayor Ellis, Mrs. Amelia H. Thorn superbly performed on the big pipe organ, following which a selection was rendered by the Mendelssohn Symphony Orchestra. "America" was sung by the audience with a vim that thrilled, and after prayer by Rev. Edmund J. Kulp, pastor of Broadway church, and one rendition of "With Sheathed Sword" from "Naaman" by a chorus under the direction of Prof. Frank G. Riggins, the big audience listened to a masterly, brilliant and eloquent oration by Judge C. V. D. Joline. Taking "The Life and Character of Lincoln" as his theme the learned jurist swayed his hearers for an hour with his beautiful word pictures, driving home with convincing force the many lessons to be drawn from the life of the great American whose life and works are to-day the topic of public address the nation over.

"In the life of each living person there are days which may be called notable days, in which something occurs that leaves an impress upon the mind, the life or the character of such person, and there is some one particular day of note more impressive than any other," said Judge Joline in opening. "If anyone will scan his life he will find certain days that stand forth as beacon lights, never to be forgotten. They pervade one's pathway, influence his conduct and mould his very existence. At the time he may not be conscious of it, and only by retrospect does he become aware of it.

"And none the less is it true of the life of a nation. In our own political existence the Declaration of Independence, the Adoption of the Constitution, and the Emancipation are marked instances, and just as marked instances could be named in the life of other nations."

Recounting notable events and doings of the last century and classing Gladstone and Lincoln as among the greatest of the era the Judge continued:

"Heredity and environment play no inconsiderable part in the life of an individual. His conduct, his manner of thought, his purposes, his very existence are moulded and swayed by some external force or forces working upon temperament, external forces that may have been the culmination of ages. It has ever been an abiding belief of many that all that is really great is the result of struggle and contest. Glance over the history of our own country and you cannot fail to see that each era of advance has followed fast upon some struggle, which has been the epoch of transition. If, therefore, we would view aright the life of Lincoln we must not look at it alone in his speeches and in his acts, for all that he said and all that he did were so dependent upon the institution and the progress of our country that we must note certain events prior to his advent upon that scene of strife of which he was destined to be the central figure.

"To-day, all over this glorious land, tribute is being paid to the high value of his personal and moral qualities—qualities which have made his fame multiply with the lapse of years—and I am going to ask you to bear with me while we consider it from a historical

TELLS OF TRIP WITH BODY OF "ABE" LINCOLN

C. A. Miller, of This City, Was Fireman on the Train Which Took Remains to Baltimore.

THOUSANDS LINED ROUTE OF JOURNEY

Carolina A. Miller, of 945 Linden street, familiarly known as "Pop," is, so far as is known, the only living member of the train crew that took the body of Abraham Lincoln from Washington to Baltimore.

Mr. Miller, who is hale and hearty despite his years, said this morning that he fired engine No. 238 that drew the funeral train; that Thomas Beckett was the engineer and "Peck" Dukehart, the conductor.

The funeral train was preceded by engine No. 237 in charge of William Galloway and that acting as a pilot and under orders this engine was but a short distance in front of the funeral train. Mr. Miller stated that not only were engines and cars heavily draped, but that every employe of the company on the train wore crepe.

The body of the martyred President, Mr. Miller said, rested in a big sixteen-wheel, double-truck observation car. The speed of the train was ten miles an hour and between the two cities every vantage point was occupied by those seeking to honor the dead President and that for a good part of the way the train was run through a veritable human lane with bared and bowed heads.

CRASH VICTIM MUCH BETTER

Hope is Now Entertained for Recovery of William M. Lord.

SHIP YARD WORKERS ARE ALSO IMPROVED

The surviving victims of yesterday's two tragedies, the grade crossing crash on the Atlantic City Railroad at Seventh and Bulson streets, and the collapse of a ways at the New York ship yard, are reported as doing well at the hospitals in which they are confined, and the prospects are that they will now recover.

Charles Works, of 1307 Fillmore street, and John Grobish, aged 42 years, of 1739 Railroad avenue, who were injured by the slipping of the keel blocks of a barge at the New York ship yard yesterday afternoon when their more unfortunate countryman, James Sinowish, aged 22 years, of 141 Cox street, was instantly killed, are in Cooper Hospital.

Grobish has a fractured leg and five broken ribs and is also suffering from severe internal shock. Works escaped with scalp lacerations and concussion of the brain. Grobish's condition is still critical.

Although by no means out of danger, William M. Lord, aged 32 years, of 630 Federal street, whose companion Harry Cohen, aged 22 years, of 1139 Marion street, was killed in a grade crossing accident at Seventh and Bulson streets, yesterday forenoon, is still fighting a battle for life at Homeopathic Hospital.

Having suffered a fractured skull and arm besides numerous cuts, bruises and shock, Lord was not expected to survive the day yesterday, but after coming out of the anaesthetics administered for the performance of an operation he began to show slight but gradual and surprising signs of improvement.

FIND BELL GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

By United Press Wire.

DENVER, Col., Feb. 12.—C. Burdette Bell, who shot and killed Cuvler Dury, a Cincinnati actor, who had broken up his home, to-day was found guilty of voluntary manslaughter.

The penalty for the offense is a penitentiary sentence of from one to eight years. Sentence will be pronounced to-morrow.

Judge Shattuck probably will impose the minimum sentence, as he told the jury he was sorry they did not acquit Bell.

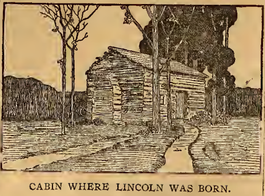
ROOSEVELT SPEAKS AT LINCOLN'S BIRTHPLACE



CABIN WHERE LINCOLN WAS BORN.

By United Press Wire.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Standing on the spot where Abraham Lincoln was brought into the world one hundred years ago, President Roosevelt to-day laid the corner stone of the marble memorial hall that is to rise, a shelter for the little log cabin in which the martyr president was born and a shrine for the American people.

The Lincoln centenary is celebrated to-day throughout the United States and the world joins in honor of his memory.

General Luke Wright, the Secretary of War, who fought in the army of the South, delivered the address on behalf of the Confederate army. To mark still more the cessation of sectional strife a Southern Methodist bishop, Galloway, from Mississippi, pronounced the benediction.

Participating also in the exercises and delivering addresses were Governor Folk, of Missouri, the president of the National Lincoln Farm Association, General James Grant Wilson who speaks on behalf of the Federal army, and Governor Willson representing the State of Kentucky.

And among the thousands who journeyed to the farm were many veterans of the Civil War on both sides. The granite corner stone holds important documents relative to the history of the Lincoln farm, the life of Abraham Lincoln from the cradle to the grave and a complete account of the ceremonies attending the centennial celebration.

The crowds that invaded Hodgenville for the celebration began coming last night. From the country for miles around they journeyed in vehicles of every description, huge farm wagons, old carry-alls, trim buggies, the colored inhabitant driving the lowly mule.

Assembled in Hodgenville were the closed carriages of the President and his party and the invited guests. Automobiles from the city honked and chugged. Every vehicle that could be used as a means of transportation had been pressed into service.

Shortly before 10 o'clock the first special train from Louisville drew up at the Illinois Central station. By the time these arrivals had dispersed the second special came having on board a band of twenty pieces, provided by the Lincoln Centenary Committee, Company C of the First Regiment from Louisville 18 cavalrymen and about fifty newspaper correspondents from all parts of the country.

Following this came Robert Collier's special. Aboard it were Governor Willson and staff, Governor Folk, General James Grant Wilson, Bishop Galloway, the members of the State Committee, the official representatives of the Grand Army of the Republic, the United Confederate Veterans, the Spanish War Veterans, the Loyal Legion and the representatives of the city of Louisville. This was followed by another special which completed the thousands who had gathered in Hodgenville for the exercises and preparations began for the arrival of the President's train.

General Roger Williams, of Lexington, who had been designated by Governor Willson as chief marshal, had charge of arrangements. Mounted men were stationed along the road to the Lincoln farm to keep the way clear for the parade. The order had been given that after the President's train arrived no vehicles should leave the Lincoln farm for Hodgenville.

The ceremonies started as soon as the President and his party reached the tent, a huge canvas capable of accommodating six thousand, which has been erected for the purpose. The ground under foot was covered with cinders and sawdust. At one end of the tent was the speaker's stand and the Lincoln cabin in full view of the vast audience. Only a week ago the timbers of the historic structure, which have traveled about the country, were taken out of a Louisville warehouse and put together on the original site where they will now stand sheltered by their marble temple.

The cabin and the Lincoln spring nearby were decorated with national colors. Every visitor wanted a drink at the spring and the crowd had to form a line, each waiting his turn. A stone arch has been placed over this spring which still flows as copiously as ever.

Many of the visitors stopped at Hodgenville on their way to the farm to see the site of the Lincoln statue for which Congress appropriated $10,000 and Larue county $2,500 and which will be unveiled the latter part of May. Of the memorial hall itself all they beheld was the beginning of the foundation, which is of concrete.

Governor Folk as president of the National Lincoln Farm Association, opened the speech-making. The laying of the corner stone and President Roosevelt's address followed. Governor

Sixty Workmen Caught in Dynamite Explosion, Two Being Mangled.

NUMBER OF INJURED BEING KEPT SECRET

By United Press Wire.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Sixty workmen were caught in an explosion of a dynamite cartridge in the McAdoo tunnel which is being constructed to connect the two Hudson river tubes to-day.

Two were instantly killed, their bodies being terribly mangled. The number of others injured was kept secret by the McAdoo Company who made no report of the accident until hours after it occurred.

The injured were taken to the draft and hoisted to the surface. From there they were conveyed to their homes in ambulances provided by the company.

A report was issued later by the company which said that the blast did not injure the tunnel work to any extent.

TROLLEY HITS AT ICE WAGON

Foreman Murray Jolted from His Seat When Car Bumps Team.

BIG JUICY TUMBLE IN FROZEN WATER

A Haddonfield trolley car cut considerable ice at Haddon avenue and Carman street about 7 o'clock this morning, when a big eight wheeler crashed into an American Ice Company wagon with a grinding racket and reverberating roar that startled all "Mackerelville" from Sutton's to Schoelkopfs.

Foreman "Bill" Murray, who was driving the team of venerable steeds, said he never got such a cold deal in all his born days, although at the time of the collision things were mighty hot.

Luckily Murray and the horses escaped unscathed; although the veteran foreman sustained a shock that he will not forget for some time.

Since the elevation of the railroad at Bridge avenue, trolley cars hum along Haddon avenue at a very rapid clip. Murray's team was just turning into Haddon avenue from Carman street when an inbound trolley car shot up the incline and smashed into the wagon amidships with a force that sent standing passengers reeling over each others' corns amid "agonizing groans" and caused the motorman to side-step lively to avoid annihilation.

Foreman Murray was hurled from his seat, but sturdily clung to the lines and kept the terrified team from running away and perhaps doing further damage.

There were two tons of ice in the wagon and such was the fury of the smash that it was churned to a frazzle. Outside of bent wheels and a broken whiffle-tree, however, no damage was done to the staunch-built wagon, but Foreman Murray, who is known as a careful and faithful employe was delayed about an hour and a half in serving his extensive route.

SHE CROSSES THE SUIT BROUGHT BY BOARDER

William den Haam, of 1031 Ferry avenue, was held in $200 bail by 'Squire Thompson, of Fourth street and Kaighn avenue, last night, on a charge of assault and battery preferred by Mrs. Hattie Maxwell, of 713 Fairview street.

Mrs. Maxwell keeps a boarding house and when the defendant attempted to leave her house Saturday night without paying his board in full she claims that he struck her several times.

Mrs. Maxwell is also under bail on a charge of assault made by the boarder.

FIREMEN HOAXED BY CALL ON TELEPHONE

A 'phone call to Fire Headquarters, Fifth and Arch streets, at 6.50 o'clock last night, sent companies from Kaighn avenue and Broadway fire houses to Ninth street and Ferry avenue. The message proved to be a hoax.

The police were notified and an investigation is being made. Arrests may follow.

URGES GOVERNMENT TO TAKE THE ACTION

By United Press Wire.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Prosecution of the National Confectioners' Association under the Sherman anti-trust law is being urged upon the Department of Justice by Attorney Matthew S. O'Brien, of this city.

He represented F. C. Fox, formerly of Bridgeport, Conn., [illegible] engaged in the wholesale candy [illegible]ness in Baltimore about six month[illegible]go.

"After his first order," said O'Brien to-day, "Fox was told that he would get no more goods unless he joined the Baltimore Confectioners' Association and posted a forfeit of $250 that he would not undersell. He refused.

"Now manufacturers refuse to sell him goods even for cash. He has letters from them, telling him 'to join the Baltimore Association to 'avoid friction' and otherwise notifying him in guarded language that he is on the block-list. He is getting some supplies but under great difficulties.

"If the government does not take up the case I shall sue the Confectioners' Association for damages due to their conspiracy. Precedent for such suit is afforded by the Bucks Stove and Danbury Hatters' cases."

BOLD WESTERN HOLD-UP IN BUFFALO SALOON

By United Press Wire.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 12.—Much after a fashion that prevailed in the West some years since, two masked robbers confronted L. C. Brandl, a saloon man, in his place early to-day.

Brandt was counting his money and found that he had a total of $837 which belonged to a brewery and which had been secured by him to cash railroad pay checks to-day.

The robbers stopped the count, took the money and left Brandt so dazed that it was minutes before he could notify the police.

HOW THE IMPROVED RED MEN PROVIDE FOR THEIR ORPHANS

Fully Explained in a Letter from Great Chief of Records Brooks to President Roosevelt—Brotherhood of America Visitors Warmly Welcomed by Deerfield Circle—Patriotic Sons of America Preparing for Washington's Birthday.

MASONS WILL ENTERTAIN MINISTERS; OTHER INTERESTING LODGE NEWS

Great Chief of Records Brooks, of the Great Council of the United State, has furnished us with the copy of a letter written by him to President Roosevelt bearing on the recent conference held in Washington for the purpose of arranging some plan for the rearing and education of fatherless and motherless children. It is so clear and explicit an explanation of the manner in which the Red Men's Orphans' Fund is conducted that it will be found instructive not only to members of that order, but to others interested in that work who are not members. He said:

"It is with great interest, I assure you, that 500,000 members of the Improved Order of Red Men have read in the public press news of the call you have made for a conference of some of the leading philanthropists of our country for a discussion of the problem of caring for dependent children.

"In your letter you state: 'Surely nothing ought to interest our people more than the care of the children who are destitute and neglected, but not delinquent. I very earnestly believe that the best way in which to care for dependent children is in the family home.'

"I desire to inform you that for nearly ten years the Improved Order of Red Men has been caring for full and half orphans of deceased members, in private families. We collect five cents per year from each of our members, and this is placed in a fund called 'The Orphans' Fund.' When a member of our order dies and leaves children which are in need, the branch of the order to which the parent was attached makes application to the officers in charge of the Fund for assistance for the orphans. The officers investigate the case thoroughly, and if the children are found in need of aid an appropriation is made. This amount, under our laws, cannot exceed $2.50 a week. We require the branch to find a home in some private family for the children in the following order.

"If the children are half orphans, with the mother. Next, if the mother is not living, with some blood kin, provided the party is a suitable person, and if it is impossible to place the children with either mother or a blood relation, then, if possible, we have the children placed in the family of a member of the order.

"The appropriation is sent to the branch having the orphans in charge, and when they pay out any money for the benefit of the orphans, they take receipts for all that is spent, so that the officers of the fund know that the money is honestly spent for the benefit of the children.

"Under no circumstances whatever are appropriations made when children are placed in an orphan asylum. We require that children receiving benefits must be kept at school during the entire period prescribed by the rules of the Board of Education having jurisdiction in the town where the children reside.

"We are to-day caring for 475 orphans in various parts of our country, and expending about $37,000 a year for this purpose. As our plan has been in operation for nearly ten years, we have demonstrated that the idea can be successfully carried out at a reasonable expense, and cheaper than the cost per child where they are kept in an orphan asylum.

"This plan was originated and thought out by Martin A. Marks, of Cleveland, Ohio, who for twenty-five or thirty years has been a director in several of the largest Jewish orphan asylums in the United States. He has made the study of orphans his life's work, it is his hobby. He has seen the inherent weaknesses which attach to orphan asylum life, and ten years ago he suggested this plan to the Great Council of the United States, and it was adopted and has proved to be a success and is no longer an experiment.

"As Great Chief of Records of the Great Council of the United States I have in this capacity been secretary of the board of officers of the fund since it was established, and have passed upon every application for benefits which has been granted. I have in my possession all the records and data concerning the fund, and assure you it will be a pleasure to furnish this conference with any information in my possession on the subject.

"In our opinion an orphan asylum may be a gorgeous palace, situated in a garden of beauty, and may afford all that is necessary for physical comfort or moral stimulant, but from its very nature it cannot be a home where a child may shed its tears upon a loving breast, or share its joys with a motherly, smiling face. Such things can only be in the real family circle where, however humble, there is a typical family life.

"In conclusion, Mr. President, if I can contribute anything in the way of data or information to help along this grand and noble proposition, kindly command me."

In due course of time Secretary Loeb replied as follows:

"My Dear Sir.

"The President is greatly interested in the information you give in your letter about the care of needy children among the Improved Order of Red Men.

"An invitation has been extended to Mr. Martin A. Marks, of Cleveland, Ohio, to attend the coming conference on the care of dependent children.

"Very truly yours,

"WM. LOEB, JR.,
"Secretary to the President."

The Improved Order of Red Men is fortunate in having among its great leaders Martin A. Marks, of Ohio, Chairman of the Orphans' Fund Advisory Board, and the originator of the home-life-plan of finding suitable homes for homeless children, and surrounding their early lives with all those influences which tend to make them grow up in lives of rectitude, fully equipped to bear their share of responsibilities as citizens of the greatest country in the world.

Every Red Man should rejoice that the order has been the pioneer in this great movement, endorsed by President Roosevelt, and which now will become a national one.

IMPROVED ORDER OF RED MEN.

One of the most pleasant events that has taken place in Red Men's circles in Camden in recent great suns was the visit of the Great Chiefs to Wyoming Tribe, No. 55, on last Tuesday's sleep. Great Sachem E. W. Schabilon was accompanied by Great Senior Sagamore Harry J. Rathbone, Great Prophet Frank P. Jackson, Great Chief of Records Daniel M. Stevens, Great Keeper of Wampum William J. Smythe, Jr., Great Sannap John B. Wright, Great Mishinewa Charles M. Curry, Deputy Great Sachems Blanck, Burdge and Day, of Districts 18, 19 and 20, Past Great Sachems Joseph E. Nowrey and Fred P. Rees and the entire Finance Committee of the Great Council. M. B. Spofford, of Bayonne; J. A. Karet, of Hackensack, and Harold T. Blinn, of Burlington. Each made interesting long or short talks. One of the most pleasant features, however, was the presentation to Deputy Great Sachem Burdge, by the tribes in District No. 19, of a gold watch, in appreciation of his services during the great sun. Past Great Sachem Nowrey made the presentation in his usual happy manner, while the speech of acceptance by Deputy Burdge was a gem. The cigars were passed around frequently during the sleep and at the quenching of the council fire a district session was held of the Great Council and the degree of Past Sachem conferred upon thirteen applicants.

Pottowottomie Tribe, No. 94, on Saturday's sleep had a good attendance, but owing to the expected paleface failing to materialize, no work was done. Among the visitors was Great Sannap John B. Wright, who made a good and sensible talk. Others who talked were the brothers "Jack" and "Bill" Mason, of Sioux Tribe, "Pop" Ross, Clarence Taliaferro and "Hughey" Harrop, of Pottowottomie. Much of the talk was in reference to the Great Council. To-morrow's sleep will be devoted to the social side and the council fire will be quenched early.

In last Friday's news, through an inadvertance, it was stated that the presentation to retiring Deputy George W. Blanck would be made in Wallawalla Tribe on next Thursday's sleep. George being a member of Eyota Tribe, No. 105, of course the event will take place in that tribe, the date of which has been fixed for Friday's sleep, 19th inst.

Deputy Great Sachem Lewis P. Day, of District No. 19, gave his annual oyster supper on last Wednesday's sleep, at his home in Haddonfield, and entertained a large crowd of his fellow Red Men, a number being accompanied by their wives, there being about seventy to sit down to the feast. Among those most prominent who were there was Great Prophet Frank P. Jackson, Great Sannap John B. Wright, Great Mishinewa Charles M. Curry, Deputy Great Sachem J. Milton Burdge, ex-Deputies Hugh Harrop, William Ross, ex-Great Representatives Charles J. Harper and Aaron Allen, "and others." Oysters were served in all styles and with the usual "fixin's" and everybody did full justice to the skill of Mrs. Day in the culinary art. There was no formal talk, but the evening was spent in social converse and music. It was nearly the 12th run when the guests departed, declaring "Lew" a "jolly good fellow."

Sioux Tribe, No. 25, on Monday's sleep had an enjoyable council sleep. One paleface was present for adoption and the ceremony was said to have been rendered in a more perfect manner than it had been in the previous five great suns. The Warriors, Braves and Scouts of Sioux are selected from among the new and young element which has been brought in, and they are taking an interest in their work and bringing it up to a system. In addition to the adoption one was admitted by card, one suspended brother reinstated, while another proposition for admission by card was presented and two applications received from palefaces. There will be adoption next Monday's sleep.

The twenty-fifth anniversary of Winona Tribe, No. 67, of Jersey City, was celebrated on Wednesday's sleep. The Great Chiefs present were Great Sachem E. W. Schabilon Great Chief of Records Daniel M. Stevens, Great Keeper of Wampum William J. Smythe, Jr., and Great Guard of the Forest Charles Holm. Great Representative Andrew T. Young and Chairman M. B. Spofford, of the Finance Committee, were also present. Great Chief of Records Stevens, who was Great Sachem when the Tribe was instituted, was unanimously voted the "guest of honor." The visitors each made short talks and had the pleasure of hearing seven applications for membership read. A banquet was served after the council fire was quenched.

Next Thursday's sleep, 18th inst., Beaver Tribe, No. 62, of Norristown, Pa., will adopt a class of 150 palefaces. The adoption degree will be conferred by the Great Chiefs of Pennsylvania, while the Warrior's and Chief's degrees will be conferred by the team of Chattahoochee Tribe, No. 17, of Philadelphia. The work will be done in the Norristown Opera House. The Great Chiefs of New Jersey have received an invitation to be present.

The preliminary reports of the Great Sachem, Great Chief of Records, Great Keeper of Wampum, Board of Appeals and Representatives to the Great Council of the United States, prepared for presentation to the Great Council of New Jersey on the 25th sun of this moon, will be forwarded to each Tribal Representative during the latter part of the next seven suns.

Tecumseh Tribe, No. 60, of Asbury Park, adopted a class of twenty-one palefaces on Tuesday's sleep. They had visitors present from Lakewood, Manasquan, Belmar, Farmingdale, Milltown, Long Branch, and one brother from Phillipsburg, and another from Wilmington, Del.

Pontiac Tribe, No. 134, was a little short in attendance on Tuesday's sleep, but what they were short in attendance was made up in enthusiasm. Past Sachem Edward Siddons, who has been Collector of Wampum of the Tribe for the past sixteen or seventeen great suns, tendered his resignation from that chieftancy, to the regret of all the members he having been called out of these hunting grounds indefinitely by business. Past Sachem Robert F. Lutton was elected to fill the vacancy. The entertainment committee held the floor for a couple of runs in endeavoring to find out whether they would have the support of the members in a series of entertainments they purpose originating. One paleface was found astray in the forest and taught the mysteries of Redmenship in Pontiac's usual thorough manner. They also received a proposition for membership. Our correspondent asks that the brothers come and see them. They will enjoy themselves. He says Pontiac is one of the few Tribe's that have no candidates for Great Junior, but there is no telling how soon the disease may break out there, and when it does all may be sure, whoever he is, is going to be a winner.

Ottawa Tribe, No. 15, had an unusually quiet session last sleep, although the attendance was fairly good. One proposition for membership was received and the many Past Sachems present discussed the coming session of the Great Council. After the council fire was quenched the Haymakers had their monthly meeting and enjoyed the regular lunch. Collector of Wampum Joseph Baumeister was reported unable to follow the hunt.

Past Sachem Albert Dash, of Standing Elk Tribe of Gloucester City, has the badges for the Great Council again this great sun and they are of a very neat design. He has added the Deputy Great Sachems to his list. He had them at Wyoming Tribe on last Tuesday's sleep and disposed of quite a number.

Metamora Tribe, No. 71, had an extra large gathering last Friday's sleep, but it looked more like a council of Sioux Tribe. The fact that a brother was in need had something to do with the representation of No. 25 and they did nobly, and Metamora highly appreciates those who responded so generously, also the aid of Mohican Tribe, No. 64, for their donation. Among those present who made good remarks were District Deputy Lewis Day, Great Sannap John B Wright, P. O. S. Peterson, Chief of Records John Osborne, No. 25; P. S. Logan Bates, No. 121; P. S. Beattey, Degree Council, No. 1, and also a goodly number of Metamora members. One proposition was received and there will be an adoption on this sleep.

Dakota Tribe held a short session on Tuesday's sleep and then adjourned to visit Wyoming Tribe, where they paid their respects to the Great Chiefs.

There will be something doing in Massasoit Tribe next Tuesday's sleep when they will perform the adoption on several candidates. Be on hand and see the fun. They had another proposition last Tuesday.

MASONIC MATTERS.

Worshipful Master Robert T. Lee, of Trimble Lodge, No. 117, will invite all the ministers who are members of the Masonic fraternity in attendance on the annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church in this city next month, to attend a communication of that lodge and witness the conferring of one of the degrees on the Friday night of the conference week.

ORDER OF ODD FELLOWS.

New Jersey Lodge, No. 1, on Monday evening had a large attendance and an enthusiastic meeting. The degree staff was present and had a rehearsal of the second degree in amplified form, which will be conferred next Monday night. An invitation was accepted from Senatus Lodge to attend their anniversary. Degree Master Past Grand A. R. Kasson aims to make the work second to none in Camden and invites all Odd Fellows to be present.

Nonpareil Lodge, No. 220, was treated to a little surprise last Monday night by a visitation from a delegation representing Cinnaminson Lodge, No. 201, of Palmyra. In the delegation were Past Grands Nathan Wallace, C. H. Powell and James H. Key, Brothers Leon Winter, Moses McCready, John Fortiner and William H. Ruxton, each of whom made short addresses. Others there who spoke were Past Grand Rushton, of Dauphin Lodge, Pa.; John Rutherford, of Chosen Friends Lodge, No. 29, and ex-District Deputy U. G. Stack, of Nonpareil. One proposition for membership was received and the first degree worked for the benefit of the visitors. Next Monday night the initiatory degree will be conferred.

Camden Encampment, No. 12, will hold a regular meeting to-night, when it is expected to confer the Patriarchal degree in full form. All members are requested to be on hand.

BROTHERHOOD OF AMERICA.

On Saturday evening last a number of Camdenians were cordially received at Deerfield Circle, Deerfield, Cumberland county. The occasion was a class initiation of sixteen candidates and was witnessed by at least two hundred interested spectators from all over the State. The ceremony as exemplified by their own members was very favorably commented on by many of the speakers during the evening. Rev. Mr. McKnight, a Presbyterian minister, took a leading part, and created a decided impression. In describing the affair a visitor from this city said that when they arrived at the hall, after a lengthy drive, they beheld vehicles of all descriptions, lined up for a considerable distance and thought it was a sale or public vendue going on, but when they got into the circle room there was a large delegation from Vineland, Millville, Salem, Bridgeton, Camden and Trenton, also Supreme Scroll Keeper H. B. Walter, Supreme Herald S. C. Hornblower, Grand Chief Washington Albert Wrensch, David W. Doan, Grand Watch Broadwater, John A. Bensel, of Trenton; James B. Newall, of this city, and George W. Fenner, of Northfield, a member of Witherspoon Circle, of this city, and also a representative to the Supreme Circle. At the conclusion of the ceremony speech-making was in order for the balance of the evening, or up to about 2 a. m., and during the time elapsing between various speakers a relay of 70 each was escorted to the supper room until the inner man was amply taken care of. During the remarks of George W. Fenner, he related a circumstance in which he took part in this circle 20 years ago. The hospitality shown visitors on this and other occasions is well known to members of this city in which the members of Deerfield care for all those who attend the various functions. It is compulsory to stay all night and the larger part of the next day, but always terminates in pleasantness long remembered.

Welcome Circle had four propositions on Tuesday and Washington had two at their meeting on Friday evening last. This shows that two Circles in this vicinity are making an effort to win the flag that is offered by the Grand Chief for the largest gain in membership.

ORDER UNITED AMERICANS.

Admiral George Dewey Temple, No. 5, held their regular meeting on last Friday evening. The attendance was above the average. Grand Instructor Sister Baker presided and all the rest of the officers answered to the roll call. The meeting was opened promptly at 8 o'clock, as there was lots of business to be transacted, and three candidates to be initiated. The report of the relief committee showed that the sick members increase in number. All other committees rendered favorable reports. Brother George Kieamann, captain of the degree team, put his team on the floor and performed the work in a creditable manner, and it looked like old times. The captain desires the reporter to say that he will initiate every time candidates present themselves. In good of the order several visiting members made interesting remarks. Grand Inspector Sister Elsie Stine commented on the work of the team. It is hoped the members will turn out and render all the assistance they can to make Dewey Temple a great success, socially in the future as in the past, as there is nothing to hinder them from being as popular as their namesake.

SHEPHERDS OF BETHLEHEM.

Columbia Lodge, No. 21, had a large attendance last Monday evening and the degree team had the pleasure of initiating some of the candidates that have applied for admission. Both degrees were exemplified and the teams are in perfect shape for next Monday evening, when the exhibition drill will be given for the benefit of the Home. This is a chance that should not be missed by any member of the order and all will be sorry if they miss it. There was plenty of business transacted and the members should attend and assist in its transaction. Lookout for the fair for the benefit of the Home in the near future and all who can by any act or deed contribute to its success should consider it their duty to do so.

SONS OF TEMPERANCE.

Friendship Division, No. 205, is still active, in securing new members, as was demonstrated last Monday evening when four candidates were admitted by initiation. There are several more propositions in view and they expect to have another initiation next Monday. The business is being transacted in a very careful and conservative manner. After the work was over last Monday evening, the entertainment committee admitted friends of the members and had a short entertainment as follows: Piano solo, Sister Ida Stutski; clarinet solo by Brother Walter Hutchinson, accompanied on the piano by Sister M. Morganweck; vocal solo entitled, "Say No., That's All!" by Sister Josephine Gomez; recitation entitled "The Trials of An Old Maid," by Sister Mary Rodd; piano solo, Herbert Snelson; address, George W. Ellis. After the entertainment the committee in charge requested all to return to the supper room where refreshments were partaken of.

TALL CEDARS OF LEBANON.

The Rangers of Camden Forest, No. 5, will have the full sixteen uniforms to-night when they will be put through their paces in a drill by their captain, Edward A. Daw. The drill will be held in the third story south room of Wildey Hall. Photographer H. D. Oarns will be there with his camera and take a flashlight picture of the Rangers in uniform.

PATRIOTIC SONS OF AMERICA.

Camp No. 107 will hold their class initiation on next Monday night. Camp No. 29, of Merchantville, will be down with their team and perform the work. All the brothers of other camps are cordially invited to be present. The camp is in high glee over the rally to be held in the First Church on Washington's Birthday and will turn out strong. The officers want all of the stay-at-homes to be present on next Monday night. Besides the class initiation there will be some business that will interest them. The members were sorry to hear of the District President being laid up with a very heavy cold and hope he will be better so that he will be able to be present on next Monday night.

The combined Camps of Camden county will hold a public demonstration on the evening of Washington's Birthday in the First M E Church, Sixth and Stevens streets. The Rev. C. H. Elder, of Trenton, will deliver an address on Washington, also State President W. H Mercer, of Pennsauken, will speak. The musical program will be rendered by Prof. Powell G. Fithian and the choir of the First Church enlarged to eighty-five voices for this service. A special program has been arranged, and all numbers will be patriotic. The public in general is invited to attend. Doors open at 7.30 o'clock, entertainment starting at 7.45.

ROYAL ARCANUM.

Camden Council meeting, held Tuesday evening last, was one full of interest, from more than one point of view. There was initiation and the work was very well done by the new officers. This makes five additional members for this term, and a number of applications are pending. Camden Council means business, and if the members want to keep up with Regent Schubert in the matter of securing applications, they will have to get up and hustle. Three of these were recommended by Regent Schubert. The feature of the evening was a speech on "Abraham Lincoln," by Brother Thomas Hall, lawyer. Brother Hall attributes Lincoln's success as a lawyer to his inherent knowledge of what was right, and the tenacity with which he would stick to a thing when he found it to be right. Chaplain Benjamin Carlin, a veteran, told of some of the experiences of the early '60's, and the thanks of the council were extended to both. Next meeting, February 23, will be known as "Washington" night, and each member will be expected to tell something of Washington, even if only the already threadbare story of the cherry tree. All are invited to come and spend a pleasant evening.

ORDER EASTERN STAR.

Camden Chapter will give a progressive euchre on Tuesday evening, February 16, at 8.30 o'clock, Goff Building 23 Broadway. Tickets 35 cents. The souvenirs are both beautiful and expensive.

JUNIOR AMERICAN MECHANICS.

America Council, No. 135, held another interesting meeting last Friday night with a new interest being taken by the members present. The entertainment committee reported another entertainment on hand for March 12, and they expect to push forward with the aid of the brothers of the council. There will also be an entertainment and smoker on February 19, and the brothers should come out. They can see as much pleasure in the council room as they can elsewhere, as the committee will make it pleasant for all.

Thomas Jefferson Council's reporter writes: "Any brother that was present at the last meeting had a good time. Brother Brown was with us once again and we hope the brother will not get sick soon again as he was missed from the meetings very much. He has always something to offer to the members that is interesting to them. The Guards are requested to appear at the council each week in uniform for the drill, by order of Captain Streck. The visitation committee is going to get busy. They are arranging to pay a visit to every council in Camden county and it is most likely that Westville Council will be the first council we will attend. Every Council in the county is cordially invited to attend these meetings with us. Watch this paper every week for information of these visits. In the good of order next week those two clever comedians, Brothers Watson and Lane, will try and amuse the members by doing the Salome dance."

Browning's reporter says: "Monday night at Browning Council can certainly be termed a Guard's night, as the council having nothing special on hand, and knowing the boys wanted to make good use of the time, adjourned their meeting early, as A. B. C. is always ready to assist the members who are the workers of the organization. Brother Simpson, assisted by Brother A. E. Connor, had all the Guards present line up around Captain Kirk, Adjutant W. A. Sheppard and "Lieut" Stanley Sheppard, and then took a flashlight of the boys of Company D. After the photo taking was over, the Guards fell into line and Captain Kirk put them through a good steady drill and one which the boys were not afraid to tackle and the captain stated that hereafter he will drill the Guards every Monday night and wants all to take note of this fact. After the drill was over the Guards' work was not finished as they immediately went into a special meeting and after again threshing out the rules, decided by a unanimous vote to support the captain in enforcing the same, and the Guards who are only attending drills occasionally had better wake up or the Guards Association will ask for their uniform. The question of camping was also acted upon and it now looks as if we will camp at Alcyon Park, August 15 to 22. Every Guard should endeavor to go with us this year as it is the best experience any Guard can get, together with a very enjoyable time. The Guards also started a camp fund with Sergeant Raum as treasurer. Any Guard desiring information can speak to any of the officers of the company and they will explain the objects of this camp fund. Captain Kirk again orders all extra uniform, etc., that the men may have be turned in, especially extra belts. All bayonets, scabbards, tents, etc., this Monday night, as he desires to renovate the tents, etc., before camping season sets in. Brother Van Meter announced that he needed assistance to help him smoke that cigar. He requests that Brother Irons help him next Monday."

PATRIOTIC ORDER AMERICANS.

Camp No. 12 opened in due form last night the meeting lasting about half an hour, the reason for this being that Mayor Ellis was a guest of honor at a large banquet which consumed the rest of the evening. Besides the Mayor there was the District President. After the banquet there was a prize cake given the lucky one, who happened to be Sister Maguire. A cake was also presented to Sisters Mills and Straub, who did the cake walk to perfection. Another feature of the evening was the vocal and instrumental music by Sisters C. Straub, M. Straub, Henry Esinger and R. Fipley. The total number present were 55. The entertainment closed at a late hour and every one went home happy. If any of the brothers or sisters wish a good time come up to Camp No. 12.

"I suffered habitually from constipation. Doan's Regulets relieved and strengthened the bowels, so that they have been regular ever since."—A. E. Davis, grocer, Sulphur Springs, Tex.

Announcement!

Owing to the fact that I have purchased the Kaighn Avenue Property of the Varney Dry Goods Co., and will take possession about April the first, I will close out the entire stock in my present store at greatly reduced prices. At our new location will open with an all new stock of Ladies' and Men's Furnishings, Dry Goods, Millinery, Men's and Boys' Hats and Caps, Boys' Clothing, Shoes, Toilet Goods, Fancy Goods, etc., etc.

The stock will be up to the VARNEY STANDARD OF MERCHANDISE and the store will be conducted in the future as it has in the past, everybody receiving prompt and courteous attention.

Respectfully

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 12, 1909.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

One hundred years ago to-day, in one of the humblest homes of a primitive settlement in the State of Kentucky, there came into the world a babe whose destiny it was to become the liberator of a race and to rescue from threatened extinction the world's hope of the perpetuity of free government. The birth and mission of Abraham Lincoln were indubitably of Providential foreordination, and his advent at the supreme crisis of the Republic's life was not fortuitous, but was a factor in the world-plan of an overruling Omnipotence. Born in poverty and obscurity, his progression to manhood was an uninterrupted struggle with the hardest of untoward conditions, but with a patience that was inexhaustible, a courage that was inflexible, an energy that was irrepressible and an industry that was tireless, he forged his way over every obstacle and his innate but as yet undeveloped greatness early lifted him to a plane where his endowments of brain and heart found scope for their exercise in words and deeds that left an indelible impress upon the Republic's future history.

His great argumentative contest with Stephen A. Douglas first brought him into a permanent national prominence, while the blows of his powerful logic shook to their foundation the fortress-walls of Slavery. Perhaps no other single factor exerted so great an effect as did this memorable debate in arousing and quickening the conscience of the North to the moral enormity and the blighting influence upon the country's progress of the hideous system of human slavery, and thus Abraham Lincoln at once become a mighty force in the moral and political evolution which eventuated in its final utter obliteration through his proclamation of emancipation.

The calling of Lincoln to the Presidency was the logical sequence to the chain of events preceding it in the country's history, and his career in the executive office demonstrated the presence of the Providential hand in his elevation to that post of then almost appalling responsibility. The country at that period had no dearth of capable and patriotic Republican statesmen, but a retrospective view in the light of history will probably bring to sight no one whose intellectual and moral equipment would have fully fitted him to take the place of Abraham Lincoln. Gentle and forbearing as a mother, he was yet firm and inflexible as a rock in his fidelity to whatever his wisdom and his conscience stamped as his duty. Honesty and sincerity were his ruling traits of character, and he never yielded to the temptation of expediency when it conflicted with his convictions of right and justice.

No preceding nor any succeeding President was called to face and contend with so tremendous difficulties and crucial responsibilities as were forced upon Lincoln. With the nation in the throes of a stupendous rebellion his was the heavy task of grappling with a powerful open foe in arms while beset upon every hand by the obstruction and vilification of disloyal Northern sympathizers with the secession cause. But through all he never shrank from duty nor wavered in the determination expressed in his immortal oration upon the battlefield of Gettysburg, "that this government of the people, by the people and for the people shall not perish from the earth." As he said of the soldier dead whose graves lay before him, "no words of ours can add lustre to his fame." Abraham Lincoln lived a patriot and died a martyr. The voices of his detractors and revilers are forever stilled and their names forgotten, but his fame is secure and his rugged but noble figure will occupy a lofty niche in the Valhalla of Earth's Great.

IS KNOX INELIGIBLE?

It would be a misfortune alike to President Taft and to the country if by a mere fortuitous circumstance Senator Knox should be prevented from assuming the portfolio of the State Department in the Cabinet of the incoming administration. President-elect Taft is an excellent authority as to the equipment essential to a capable discharge of the duties of that responsible and exacting station, and an equally excellent judge of the characters and qualifications of men. He had a large field of eligibles from which to make his selection, and his choice of Senator Knox abundantly demonstrated his own statesmanlike perspicacity. His judgment was heartily approved by the practically unanimous sentiment of the country, and there will be a popular keen disappointment should his selection be nullified.

The possibility of such a contretemps has arisen in the discovery that under the operation of an overlooked inhibition of the federal constitution Senator Knox is disqualified from assuming a seat in the Cabinet. By a recent act of Congress the salaries of Cabinet officers were increased from $8,000 to $12,000 per annum. The constitutional barrier to Senator Knox's assumption of a Cabinet seat exists in the provision that "no Senator or Representative shall during the term for which he was elected be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States which shall have been created or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased during such time."

Senator Hale, of Maine, holds that this constitutional obstacle may be overcome by the repeal of the salary-increase act so far as it applies to the office of Secretary of State, and he has introduced a bill to that effect, which will doubtless be passed by Congress prior to March 4th. There are, however, some constitutional lawyers in Washington and elsewhere who hold that the disqualification of Senator Knox cannot be legally removed during the continuance of the term for which he was elected to the Senate. The consensus of capable legal opinion nevertheless seems to be that the proposed plan will stand, and it is to be hoped that such may prove to be the fact.

The recently-adopted city ordinance prohibiting the promiscuous scattering of circulars, booklets, and other cheap advertising matter on porches and doorsteps seemed to promise the housewife relief from an intolerable nuisance. Under the provisions of the ordinance the distributor must now have a license and is forbidden to drop his printed matter and pass on to the next house, but must bring some occupant of the premises to the door and hand in the article he is distributing. The result is that the housewife is now about as greatly annoyed by the frequent ringing of the doorbell and interruption of her domestic duties as she formerly was by the littering-up of her porch and sidewalk. It seems to be a case of "out of the frying-pan into the fire."

The prevailing popular impression probably is that the peanut is an article of trifling consequence among our agricultural products and that its consumption is practically confined to the small boy and the rustic attendant at the circus and the agricultural fair. This impression, however, is a palpably erroneous one according to figures recently promulgated by Mr. Lassiter, a Virginia Congressman. He asserts that the world's consumption of peanuts amounts to 600,000,000 bushels annually, and that the American people every year munch $10,000,000 worth of the nuts. Virginia alone annually produces 4,000,000 bushels, while there are eight other States that grow the peanut more or less extensively. In the light of these statistics the humble Italian vender on the street-corner becomes somewhat of a factor in our country's agriculture and commerce.

The post offices throughout the country will soon be supplied with a new and unique two-cent postage stamp, the issue of which has been authorized by joint resolution of Congress, the stamp being designed to commemorate the Lincoln centenary. The new stamp displays a vignette portrait of Lincoln, surmounted by a spray of laurel leaves, and bears the inscription "United States Postage" in a horizontal line across the top and the dates "1809—Feb. 12—1909" at the bottom. The stamp is printed in red of a shade similar to that of the present ordinary two-cent stamp. The portrait is in profile, and was adapted from one in the Corcoran Art Gallery, in Washington, and which was taken from the St. Gaudens statue of Lincoln on Riverside Drive, Chicago. There will doubtless be a great demand for the new stamps, and it is probable that a large proportion of the issue will never be utilized in the transmission of letters, but will be preserved as souvenirs by patriotic people.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

Falling Hair
Ayer's Hair Vigor promptly destroys the germs that cause falling hair. It nourishes the hair-bulbs, restores them to health. The hair stops falling out, grows more rapidly.

Dandruff
Ayer's Hair Vigor just as promptly destroys the germs that cause dandruff. It removes every trace of dandruff itself, and keeps the scalp clean and in a healthy condition.

We wish you to positively and distinctly understand that Ayer's Hair Vigor does not affect the color of the hair, even to the slightest degree.

SUPERSERVICEABLE MEASURE.

Trenton Evening Times:
Mr. Tumulty, of Hudson county, has introduced in the House a bill regulating the pay of officers and policemen in cities of the first and second classes. Such legislation is bad. Counties, cities and other municipalities, which must raise the money to support their governments, should be allowed, to fix the compensation of their public servants.

RAPID-FIRE GAS METERS.

Hoboken Observer:
According to figures given out by the New York Public Service Commission, it appears that 64 1-1 per cent. of the meters tested ran fast. At that rate it will not take long for the gas companies to recover the $12,000,000 which they have been ordered to return to consumers.

MUST "TAKE HIS MEDICINE."

Trenton Evening Times:
Before he can acquire standing in the Court of Pardons, Albert C. Twining must submit himself to the Monmouth court court. When he does that he will be sent to State Prison and be in a position to ask for pardon. As a fugitive from justice, he is now free, but will eventually be captured and brought back to the State, as an example to bank directors who do not direct, and to officials who unduly favor their friends.

* * * * *

"CULCHAH" IN CHICAGO.

Hoboken Observer:
A school of deportment for truckmen is to be opened in Chicago. Let us hope the scheme will not be confined to the Windy City. Just imagine, if you can, two of those fellows coming together and each demanding that the other shall take precedence. Now it will be: "After you, my dear Alphonse!" And his confrere, not to be outdone in politeness, exclaims: "I insist upon you preceding me, by dear Gaston!" Heretofore it has been: "You ——' ——— ——— ———! ——? ——— 'what's de matter wid de hole in yer face?" and other, choice Chesterfieldian (?) effusions. Unfortunately, many drivers labor under the impression that a truckman and a gentleman are incompatible.

* * * * *

A CHECK TO QUACKERY.

Jersey City Evening Journal:
There does not appear to be any valid reason why the New Jersey Legislature should hesitate to pass the so-called Osteopathy bill. The object of the bill is to protect the public from quacks and impostors, who claim to practice osteopathy, but who have not graduated from any scientific school approved by the National Association of Osteopaths. Most of these quacks, it is said, are the product of correspondence schools, from which graduates are turned out wholesale after receiving a few lessons by mail. From all accounts New Jersey is overrun by this class of "osteopaths," who are now protected by the absence of a disqualifying law.

* * * * *

AN OLD ONE IN A NEW FORM.

Bridgeton Daily Pioneer:
A banker going home from his dinner saw a $10 bill on the curbstone. He picked it up and noted the number and went home to dinner. While at home his wife remarked that the butcher had sent a bill amounting to $10. The only money he had with him was the bill he had found, which he gave to her, and she paid it to the butcher. The butcher paid it to the farmer for a calf, and the farmer paid it to a merchant, who in turn paid it to a washwoman, and she, owing the banker a note of $10, went to the bank and paid the note. The banker recognized the note as the one he had found and which up to that time had paid $50 of debt. On careful investigation he discovered that the bill was counterfeit. Now will some friend tell us what has been lost in this transaction and by whom?

* * * * *

CAMDEN'S MANY ATTRACTIONS.

Woodbury Constitution:
Camden is offering quite a number of drawing attractions in these days. First of course, is the moving picture shows —and they are numerous; then the theatres are putting out some glaring head-lines at popular prices. To these was added last week the initial caustic chapters in the Sheriff Hatch-Prosecutor Scovel "give and take" controversy over the State Mutual and Building Loan Association's affairs, the latter proving very interesting to those familiar with existing conditions. Attractions for the women hunting "bargains" were on tap in big poster type announcing "Receiver's Sale," and the great Mill Remnant and hard-up Manufacturer's sale. Taken altogether, Camden is having some strenuous days for a mild winter.

* * * * *

BIG FISH SWALLOW THE LITTLE.

Paterson Press:
Passaic is discussing the annexation question, being ambitious of becoming a "greater" city. But it has thus far steered wide of a proposition to take in Paterson. Well, these things come not by man's device, but by manifest destiny. When the appointed time comes either Passaic will absorb Paterson or Paterson will swallow Passaic, and this no matter how either of them feels about it just now.

* * * * *

THE HOODLUM ELEMENT.

Trenton State Gazette:
The agitators against the Japanese in California are entirely irresponsible. They have nothing whatever to lose, no matter how disastrous their agitation may prove to the American people. They are mischievous individuals, far below the level of those whom they seek to ostracise. They have neither intellectual nor moral power, and condemn themselves by their narrow views concerning a people who never did them any harm, but, on the contrary, have set them an example of valor and energy which it would greatly profit them to imitate.

* * * * *

PROJECTED "DINK" COUNTY.

Paterson Guardian:
The Passaic News urges that the city of Passaic and Acquackanonk township secede from Passaic county and, together with a few outlying barnyards and hen roosts, create a new county all by their dinky selves. The inauguration of the Passaic "seesech" movement on the eve of Lincoln's birthday shows that Mrs. Malaprop is still on the job.

BOTH MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE TOO EASY.

Correspondent Urges a Return to the True American Ideal.

To the Editor of the Post-Telegram:

In his essay on "Love" Emerson quotes almost approvingly the saying that the unmarried are eager to be married and the married eager to be unmarried. That was sixty or seventy years ago. Since then the way into and the way out of matrimony has been made so much easier that neither wedded or unwedded have now any reason for complaint. Not so the public, however. It has a just grievance both against those who rush into the wedded home where angels fear to tread and against those who rush out of the house of married life because it has not proved a perfect paradise.

One divorce to every 12 marriages is the American yearly record, according to the U. S. census bureau. It is not a record to be proud of. It means that two persons out of every 24 who annually contract marriage in this country either look upon marriage as a cloak for conduct their conscience does not approve of, or that one of the two is the victim of the other's wrongdoing, or that neither of them had intelligence enough to pick out a suitable partner in the first place.

Evidently the road to matrimony should be more carefully guarded. Marriage reform is as much needed as divorce reform.

If the public has the right to say who shall and who shall not be divorced, it has the further right to say who shall and who shall not be married. Some sociologists hold that the State should exercise a strict supervision over candidates for matrimony, submitting them to rigid tests so as to determine their fitness for a contract that plays so important a part in our social system. Their theories seem amusing to some, but there is little doubt they would be put into practice if the necessity for them really arose.

It is more likely, however, that the divorce evil will be gradually abated by a return to true American ideals. In no country in the world is the family ideal higher than in our own. Yet many of our people have still to learn that character is not developed nor happiness secured by gratifying every whim, but by patiently bearing their individual burdens, not by shirking them and thereby endangering the whole social fabric.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

PRESCRIPTION TO BE USED

Relieves Cases of Rheumatism as if by Magic.

ANYONE CAN MIX RECIPE EASILY AT HOME

Cut this out and put in some safe place, for it is valuable and worth more than anything else in the world if you should have an attack of rheumatism or bladder trouble or any derangement of the kidneys whatever.

The prescription is simple and can be made up by anyone at home. The ingredients can be had at any good prescription pharmacy and all that is necessary is to shake them well in a bottle.

Here it is: Fluid extract dandelion, one-half ounce; compound Kargon, one ounce; compound syrup of sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime. A few doses is said to relieve almost any case of bladder trouble, frequent urination, pain and scalding, weakness and backache, pain above the kidneys, etc. It is now claimed to be the method of curing chonic rheumatism, because of its direct and positive action upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys. It gives them life and power to sift and strain the poisonous waste matter and uric acid from the blood, relieving the worst forms of rheumatism and kidney and bladder troubles. The extract dandelion acts upon the stomach and liver and is used also extensively for relieving constipation and indigestion. Compound sarsaparilla cleans and enriches the blood. There is nothing better than Kargon Compound for the kidneys.

This prescription is safe to use at any time.

FEDERAL SUPPLY IN LARGER QUARTERS

The Federal Supply Company, formerly located at 412 Federal street, has moved to 939 Broadway. The rapidity increasing business of this concern having outgrown the original locality, the new store affords facilities for doing greater things in catering to the housekeepers of Camden and vicinity. One of the principal staples of this company is Butterine, a dairy product that is pronounced by government chemists to be more wholesome and nutritious than butter and far more desirable than the many brands of process butter now on the market. The price, too, is an important consideration, as two pounds of the finest table butterine may be had for practically the price of one pound of butter.

Progressiveness is the watchword of the Federal Supply Company and in addition to the several grades of butterine, fresh eggs, the finest selected fruits and produce and other provisions are kept in stock. The new store at 939 Broadway, or the Gloucester branch, 214 Hudson street, Gloucester, will be found pleasant as well as profitable places to do your marketing.

RELIEF IN SIX HOURS.

Distressing Kidney and Bladder Diseases relieved in six hours by "New Great South American Kidney Cure." It is a great surprise on account of its exceeding promptness in relieving pain in the bladder, kidneys or back, in male or female. Relieves retention of water almost immediately. If you want quick relief and cure this is the remedy. Sold by Geo. M. Beringer, Camden, N. J. •

WARM TRIBUTE BY LODGE MEN

Brotherhood of America Celebrates Lincoln Centennial at First Church.

DR. HOLMES GRAVATT IN SPLENDID ORATION

The Brotherhood of America last night paid high tribute to Lincoln's memory in celebrating the 100th anniversary of his birth in the First M. E. Church where a program of intense patriotism was rendered in in admirable manner in the presence of an audience which crowded the church. An oration by Rev. Holmes F. Gravatt, D. D., pastor of First Church, was the feature of the exercises. The decorations were pretty and consisted entirely of Old Glory tastefully arranged upon the altar, the choir loft and the galley with a large portrait of Lincoln, draped with the national colors, making a pretty contrast. The Gloucester Military Band located at the top of the choir loft added inspiration to the occasion. As a request from the Trustees of the church the decoration committee has consented to allow them to remain over Sunday when the church people have a celebration. At 8 o'clock precisely Chairman W. A. Jackson, after a short address on the object of the celebration began the program and called on Thomas Gray, of Jackson Circle, No. 4, to offer prayer, after which Judge C. V. D. Joline read the Governor's proclamation. Mrs. Guyss sang "The Star Spangled Banner," and as the strains of the national air began the Grand Army men were on their feet instantly followed by the rest of the audience, all singing the chorus with a vim that made the church ring with enthusiasm.

REV. DR. H. F. GRAVATT,
The Orator of the Evening

Lincoln's favorite poem, "Spirits Mortals be Proud," was recited by Oliver Purpell. Master Howard Van Horn, an eight-year-old lad, rendered two cornet solos, after which Dr. Gravatt's oration on the life of Lincoln was a masterly effort, his eloquence holding his hearers spellbound.

The preacher delineated the character of Abraham Lincoln, setting him forth as the truest type of American manhood that ever lived. In his introduction he spoke of Lincoln as America's sympathetic jewel, likening him to the gem which only needs a human touch to sparkle with opalescent splendor.

Then he declared these were the elements of greatness in Lincoln's life: Good blood, Providential environments, good common sense, incorruptible integrity and faith in God.

Lincoln's line of ancestry was traced back to the Friends on the paternal side and to the Puritans on the maternal side. Hence the honesty and sincerity of the Quaker blood and the courage, perseverance and unfeigned faith of Puritan ancestry made him a rock of Gibraltar strength in the Mediterranean Sea of life, against which rock though the waves of opposition beat, and the billows of malice foamed—they did not move the rock but rather cleaved themselves asunder.

His providential surroundings made him cope with poverty. Nevertheless, this brought to him a rich experience that could not have been secured otherwise. By this means—though no college diploma adorned his walls—he became a proficient scholar in every book he studied. This was God's way also of giving him a sight at New Orleans that made him swear eternal hostility to the slave traffic. It also brought him in close contact with the common people and in him they found their truest fellow-sufferer. Indeed this was the means which step by step brought him to the highest honor a grateful republic can bestow upon her citizens. So clear was it that Abraham Lincoln's steps as a good man were ordered of God and his life moulded by Divine Providence that the voice of God became the voice of the people at the ballot box. No wonder when Lincoln was re-elected in 1864 that Mr. Rice said and said it reverently "God Almighty must have stuffed the ballot box."

W. A. JACKSON,
Who was Master of Ceremonies.

The common sense of Lincoln helped to maintain his equilibrium under very trying circumstances. He was unjustly and severely criticized by foes, badgered by friends and yet he never lost his equipoise. A supersensitive man can never be a successful President of the United States. Surely one of such a character in that critical period of our national history could never have successfully piloted "Our Ship of State." But this man determined to do the right as God gave him to see the right and consequently neither criticism, nor ridicule, nor malice could swerve him from the right. He had the good sense to keep his eye on the harbor of peace and union and no unfriendly breeze could blow him out of that party.

The honesty of his character was manifest in every phase of his life. As a storekeeper though over-charging only 6¼ cents he never rests that night until after rectifying his mistake. Though failing in business he never considered it a square deal to go into insolvency but finally paid his creditors in full. As a lawyer he would not take a case wherein he believed a man guilty. The incorruptible integrity of his life in private and public made for him a character that became currency that passed at premium the world around.

His grip on God and his faith in the word of Divine Writ as the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, caused the world to feel that he was an heir of heaven. His fervent prayers, his unfeigned faith in God and his love for the brother-man are the unmistakable evidences that he came down to the end of life crowned with divinest grace. All of these characteristics as they were set forth by the speaker were illustrated by the stories of Lincoln so full of mirth and wit.

The peroration depicted Lincoln as a character of superior beauty in the temple of eternal fame—described the awful sombre outgoing of his life and his triumphant march up the shining path of immortality when the everlasting gates lifted up their heads and the everlasting doors were lifted up and Abraham Lincoln the heir of glory entered in. Then, said the speaker: "In the language of the immortal Lincoln himself: 'In solemn awe, pronounce his name and in its naked, deathless splendor leave it shining on.'"

After the oration Chairman Jackson called on Harry Yohn, of Philadelphia, a trustee in the funeral fund and also a prominent Grand Army man of Philadelphia, to present a handsome bouquet of flowers to Mr. Gravatt, at the conclusion the Gloucester Military Band rendered several patriotic airs, and the following ode, which was written by Mrs. Bessie Mathiot Beach, a member of the Home Communion, the ladies branch of the order, was sung by the audience:

ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

Air—From Greenland's Icy Mountains.

With songs of admiration
We gather here to-day,
The memory of our President
A loving tribute pay;
And may his deeds be written
High in the halls of Fame
Till every nation honors
Our martyred Lincoln's name.

His motto, "Free and Equal,"
His life upright and brave;
Beloved by all the universe—
The freeman and the slave;
He burst the chains of bondage
And set the captive free,
And called our glorious country
Sweet Land of Liberty.

And to-day the name of Lincoln
Is hailed throughout our land
With honor, pride and rev'rence
By each loyal patriot band;
And may our starry banner
In triumph ever wave,
A challenge to all nations
Above our hero's grave.

The members of the Supreme Circle present were Supreme Trustee Hilton Taylor, Supreme Herald S. C. Hornblower, Solicitor John Harned and Past Supreme Washington Frank W. Reeve, of Atlantic City.

UNEARTH PLOTS TO ASSASSINATE

By United Press Wire.

CALCUTTA, Feb. 12.—Information of the greatest importance concerning Hindoo assassination plots is said to have been furnished the police in the seizure of a trunk full of papers at the Bagoolah railway station to-day.

On the strength of this seizure the police redoubled their activities and scores of arrests are said to be imminent.

The Barrack Rore railroad line on which a dynamite outrage was attempted yesterday is to-day being patrolled in anticipation of dynamiting.

Viceroy Lord Minto and other high Indian officials are heavily armed, in addition to being surrounded by guards.

NELSON KNOCKS OUT TEXAS LIGHTWEIGHT

By United Press Wire.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Feb. 12.—Battling Nelson has added another knockout to his credit. Scheduled to box a friendly bout with Pete Shaughnessy, the Texan champion lightweight, the latter tried to mix it up with the champion.

In the third round Bat slipped one over onto the stomach. It was all off with the Texan.

The battler is now on his way to the coast and will try to get on a match with Freddie Welch or Packey McFarland.

TURNERS FORM 'BEARS' ORDER

Aided by Tioga Gymnasts Camden Verein Members Organize Branch Society.

FUN IN ABUNDANCE FOR MERRY GERMANS

The Camden Bears have reorganized, and last night Turner Hall was without a question of a doubt the scene of the liveliest, most enthusiastic and happiest time ever spent within the building. The great success is all due to the presence of the Bears of the Tioga Turn Verein, who had promised their former teacher, Prof. Emil Beck, to be on hand thirty strong to help reorganize the Camden Bears which are a great help to the success of every Turn Verein.

The Tioga Bears marched into the Camden hall at 8.30 thirty-two strong, instead of thirty, in military style to the startling surprise of the Camdenians. Then immediately retired to the dressing-room and stripped for action which proceeding made the home team take notice and get a hustle on, just the very thing that was wanted. At 8.45 Prof. Beck gave the command to line up, and as they did it was the finest line that ever toed the mark in that hall, one that Col. John Mather would have been pleased to have seen, especially as they are men from all walks of life and many from fifty to sixty-five years "young."

When Prof. Beck commanded the Tioga's to advance one step to be greeted by the Camden's in their honorable "Ga-brum" there was just thirty-two Tiogas and in the rear line remained also thirty-two Camden—a good draw. The work began with marching and calesthenics, and then several squads formed on the apparatus of horse, truck and bars, which made a laugh a minute to see some of the heavy-weight participants trying to execute some of the figures they did years ago.

The gymnastic program wound up with a game called "Three Deep." This proved to be the funniest and most amusing thing of the evening, and for fifteen solid minutes there was a continuous convulsion of laughter. At 10 o'clock all lined up in the banquet hall to receive their refreshments and proceed with their usual meeting and social events.

There were a number of new members enrolled, entertainment, talen and addresses galore. Dore Wiedman the hustling military bear, delivered a strong and impressive address regarding the mental and physical benefits derived by the "Bears." Emil Linderme gave a dandy salamanda in which all hands took part. The "Gas Bear" from Tioga chuck full of comedy who makes them laugh as soon as he stands up, Joe Kline, who years ago was famous for singing the "Holy City," sang it and joined the "Bears." Herman Schoenborn also made a hit with one of his sentimental specialties. Joe Goetzinger and Baumgartner brothers whose combined weight is near a ton spent most of their time eating chicken salad and talking about reducing weight. John Smith, president of the Camden Turn Verein, thanked all hands for the great success of the evening.

The great joke is now to come, as all members of this order cannot be called a "Bear" until they are christened. Their name is given according to their business, occupation, etc., so therefore the Tioga's have grasped at the opportunity to duck the new order which is a very funny proceeding, and on next Wednesday evening the Camdenians will meet at the Federal street ferry at 7.30 o'clock to journey over to be put through the stunts. All persons interested are invited to go along.

ATTELL PLAYING A FOXEY GAME

By United Press Wire.

DAPTON, O., Feb. 12.—Abe Attell, the champion featherweight, is not taking any chances these days on the weight question.

Last night "Foxy Abe" was scheduled to meet Ray Bronson, of Indianapolis, at 124 pounds. When the Indianapolis scrapper appeared he was four pounds over weight and it was only after a long wrangle that the fighter agreed to go on for ten rounds, half of the scheduled number.

Then Attell objected to fighting because the club would not pay over the money in advance. The Californian could not be persuaded to go on. The champion will leave for the East shortly to try and get on a match with Jem Driscoll, the English scrapper.

BANTAMWEIGHT COULON THERE WITH THE PUNCH

By United Press Wire.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—There is one little pugilist to-day who has the punch. He is Johnny Coulon, of Chicago, the bantam champion.

Last night he made "Kid" Murphy quit in the fifth round of a scheduled ten round bout. In the fifth Coulon was sending a shower of blows over on Murphy.

Suddenly the latter went down and claimed he had been struck foul. A physician examined Murphy and declared that he had not been hit below the belt but Murphy's manager refused to allow his man to continue.

A CENTENNIAL NATAL DAY

Feb. 12, 1809 Feb. 12, 1909

Laying aside business remarks to-day we feel it incumbent on ourselves to add some few remarks, crude they may be, to the many words that will be spoken to the memory of one of this country's greatest men—Abraham Lincoln, and while to-day thousands are respecting his 100th birthday, he, whom little was ever expected to be heard of outside of his native town or hamlet, beloved by everyone for his natural sympathetic disposition; is it any surprise that the late Jefferson Davis, when hearing of his untimely death said, "the South has lost its best friend," and this sympathy of his made itself felt everywhere he went—friends, associates, and ordinary citizens.

Think of the thousands of men who have been prominent in the public eye this past century, and none have the prominence nor prestige of this one citizen, and the longer time passes, the greater he is thought of by the American people, north, south, east and west, "men may come and men may go," but this man, born in obscurity and rising to the highest office in the gift of the people, will ever remain in the memory of a grateful republic.

SHIP SAVED BY WIRELESS

Liner Finds Helpless Craft and Sends Signal 'C. Q. D.' and Summons Assistance.

TOWED TO PORT BY REVENUE CUTTER

By United Press Wire.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Reports today from the barkentine Mantanzas which was saved by vessels last night off Cape Hatteras through the call of the wireless, said that she was in tow of revenue cutter Onondago and would likely reach a place of safety where she can be beached and saved.

The rescue furnished a splendid example of the efficiency of the wireless. In a driving northeast gale off Hatteras the Southern Pacific liner Elnorte made out the signals of distress flying from the Mantanzas. The Elnorte went alongside and found all hands at the pumps.

The Elnorte's wireless operator flashed the "C. Q. D." across the seas. The station at Cape Hatteras caught the flash and there it was repeated by the more powerful currents, reaching out to sea 1,000 miles.

An answer sped back from the Southern Pacific liner Comus saying she was coming to the rescue and that the Elnorte could proceed on her way if there were no immediate danger to the Mantanzas. Next the steamer Lorimer sent a flash that she was on her way to help.

Then came news from the Prince Eitel Frederich, the Seminole, the Lampasas and the revenue cutter Onondago. After failing a line from the revenue cutter the Comus gave wireless advice to the other vessels in the locality that the Mantanzas was safe in tow.

Her cargo was jettisoned and the cutter started for Hatteras with the distressed lumber boat.

WILL OBSERVE DECISION DAY

Sunday-Schools on the East Side Extensively Plan for the Occasion.

DAY'S HAPPENINGS 'CROSS THE CREEK

James K. Asay, secretary of the Fifth District Sunday-school Association, has sent out literature to the various Sunday-school superintendents of the district calling their attention to the observance of Decision Day on February 21st. At the annual convention of the association held in the Bethany Baptist Church a couple of months ago, February 21st was set apart as Decision Day to be celebrated by all of the schools of the district. The secretary has requested statistical reports showing the number of officers, teachers and scholars present at this time, number of home department, cradle roll and visitors present and the number who decide for Christ. Big things are anticipated at Decision Day.

Calvary M. P. Church has arranged a particularly busy schedule for all next week, which will be termed a week of prayer or Decision Week. The program follows:

Sunday, Feb. 14, 10.30 a. m.—Assembly of Sunday-school, sermon by pastor; 2.30, song service in charge of Abram Vickers; 3, prayer and testimony, led by Mrs. George Escott; 7, praise service, led by Harry Roddy; 7.30, special sermon "To Scholars, Parents and Friends of Calvary," by Rev. J. H. Green, pastor.

Monday evening—Men and boys' night. Address by Harry Cheeseman, District Superintendent of Sunday-schools.

Tuesday evening—Women and girls' night. Address by Mrs. Mary Wheaton, superintendent Calvary infant department.

Wednesday evening—Mothers' and fathers' night. Address by Rev. W. J. Cox, General Secretary P. R. R. Y. M. C. A., and Rev. E A Putman, General Secretary P R. R. Y. M. C. A., of Jersey City.

Thursday evening.—Grace Baptist Bible-school night. Address by Rev. Francis Lukens. Salvation Army night. Addresses by General John Duffin, Captain A. R. Munyon and others.

Sunday, Feb. 21.—Decision Sunday. 9.30, love feast for officers, teachers and scholars, in charge of Alvin Hand; 10.30, Decision sermon. Special to all Sunday workers by the pastor; 2, song service, led by superintendent; 2.25, roll call of officers and scholars; 2.30, address by superintendent, H. W. Letts; 7, old-fashioned experience meeting led by Sisters Hoosier and Wheaton; 7.30, sermon, "The Harvest is Past," by Rev. J. H. Green.

TO HOLD MEASURING PARTY.

A grand time is promised to all who attend the measuring party to be held on Saturday evening, February 13, at Citizens' Hall, Twenty-seventh street and Cleveland avenue, by the Little Helpers of St. Andrew's P. E. mission. The affair is given in aid of the new building fund and is worthy of the aid of one and all. Cards of invitation have been issued which contain attached a small silk bag in which a person is supposed to put two cents to every foot of one's height. By this means it is expected to raise quite a neat sum towards the fund. The following verse, very unique, is also on card of invitation:

A Measuring Party is given for you,
'Tis something pleasant, as well as new.
The invitation carries a sack
For use in bringing or sending back
Two cents for each foot you're tall;
Measure yourself against the wall,
An extra cent for each inch you'll give,
And thereby show how high you live.
Now, if you have a friend quite dear
You'd like to bring with you
Or if you know someone who'd come,
We'll gladly give you two,
Then, with music and song, recitation and pleasure,
We will meet one and all at our party of measure.

NOON-TIME MEETINGS.

Monday religious meetings are to be held commencing to-day at the bunk room of the yard masters office at the Pennsylvania Railroad in Pavonia yard, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. The first meeting was held this noon and was addressed by Rev. John Green, pastor of Calvary M. P. Church, and meetings will be held hereafter every Tuesday and Friday noon commencing at 12.30, to which all railroad men are invited. These meetings have been the means of doing much good and it is expected that considerable interest will be taken in them. H. W. Letts, superintendent of Calvary M. P. Sunday-school, is one of the leaders in this movement.

MANY ENJOY WAX WORKS.

A large number of Rosedaleites last evening enjoyed an amusing entertainment, entitled "Mrs. Jarley's Wax-works," at Westminster Presbyterian Church, Thirty-sixth street and Merrill avenue, under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Social Circle. The entertainment was a pleasing one and quite a neat sum was realized from the sale of tickets.

SUFFERS BLOOD POISONING

Julius Strenger, of 1507 Carman street, is confined to his home suffering from blood poisoning. Mr Stringer, who is employed at the Keystone Leather Works, a few days ago mashed his hand, and later got some foreign substance in the injury, which later caused blood poisoning.

MAURICE LORD BADLY INJURED.

The many friends of Maurice Lord, a former well known resident here, are sorry to hear of the injuries sustained by him in the fatal accident at Seventh and Bulson streets. Mr Lord was for years the proprietor of the tonsorial rooms at Thirty-fifth and Federal streets and was very well known here. While he is badly injured hopes are entertained by his many friends for his recovery

EAST SIDE NOTES.

Last evening many members and their wives of Franklin Circle, No. 23, and Franklin Home, No 12, Brotherhood of America, attended the Lincoln celebration at the First M. E. Church, and to-day Logan Post, G. A. R. attended the exercises at Broadway M. E. Church

The B. E Class of Asbury M. E Sunday-school will hold a cake sale at the home of Mrs. Vernon Smith, No. 16 North Twenty-third street, tomorrow afternoon and evening. The proceeds will go towards the piano fund.

The Junior League of Bethel M E Church will meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock

The Junior Society of Bethany Baptist Church will meet this afternoon at 3.30 o'clock. Rev. Arthur Gee is expected to be present

Walk To Your Meals Like A Man

Eat What You Will And Learn to Enjoy Food And to Digest It.

HERE'S THE SECRET, FREE.

Make up your mind after reading this that you will let the next meal hold no terrors for you.

You can enjoy it. You can digest it. All that is needed is to give nature the juices she lacks, to give the stomach a chance to remove the terrible irritating acids, alkalies and gases which turn food and nourishment into gas and decomposition.

When a system is run down and depleted it needs building up. Ashes won't rekindle a fire and wrong digestive fluids will not take proper juices from food no matter how good the food is.

Is this common sense? Men spend years and even life experimenting on the human system, what it lacks in disease and what it needs in perfection. This knowledge is known to every physician or should be. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are compressed natural vegetable and fruit essences which when mixed with the saliva of the mouth go into the stomach capable of digesting a full meal and they digest it to the uttermost shred. Then such a meal does a man good and it gives to him the means to overcome stomach troubles. Forty thousand physicians use these tablets and charge you for writing a testimonial of their merit which they call a prescription. Any druggist in America or Canada will sell you a box for 50c. Think of it. Every druggist carries them. Here's common sense again. Don't this tell you there is merit? Go to your druggist to-day, buy a package and walk up to your meals knowing that they will not cause you pain. Send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package by mail free. CORINTHIAN TEAM TO MEET EMMETS

The Emmet team will have as its opponents at Emmet Ball Park, Third and Erie streets to-morrow afternoon the strong Corinthian team of the Pennsylvania League. This will undoubtedly be the most stubbornly contested game of the season, as it will practically decide in what position both teams will stand at the end of the season. The Corinthians at present hold third place and are several points ahead of the Emmets, who are in fourth place. But if the Emmets are able to win the game to-morrow they will easily take third place from the Corinthians before the season ends. Admission, 15 cents; boys, 5 cents. Kick off at 3.15.

All players of both the Emmet and Camden teams are requested to be at the dressing rooms early as a photographer will be on hand to take pictures of both teams before the game.

DEORO LIKELY TO RETAIN HIS TITLE

By United Press Wire.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—It looks today as if Alfred Deoro, the champion three cushion billiardist, will retain his title.

Last night in the second block for the championship he increased his lead over H. B. Lean, the St. Louis challenger, and at the end of the session was forty-one points ahead of his rival, the score being 100 to 59.

The contest will wind up to-night when the final block of fifty points will be played.

MERCHANTVILLE GIRL WEDS A CAMDENIEN

Announcement has been made by Mr. William J. Gane, of New York, of the marriage of his sister, Miss Florence Catherine Gane, of Merchantville, to Mr. Harry Fortiner Boardman, of Camden. The ceremony was performed in Merchantville yesterday by Rev. Father Clune of St. Peter's Church. A reception followed the wedding at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Harry Kochersperger, on West Walnut avenue.

ENTERTAINED HER CLASS.

Miss Minnesota E. Craig last evening entertained Class 1911 of the Merchantville High School. Her guests were Misses B. L. Horner, Lucy Mead, Marjorie Test, Ruth Short, Alice Careis, Helen Pancoast, Hazel Bodine, Alice Bodine, William Porter, Junior Mead, George Little, Herman Sloan, Harry Farr, Russell Greene.

BOROUGH BRIEFS.

Miss Marion Kleinz is visiting friends in New York.

Miss Lavinia Kohlerman has been indisposed for several days with a severe cold.

Despite the temperature, the holiday is being spent on the golf links by a number of enthusiastic lovers of the game.

James Cranmer entertained the Hungry Four Pinochle Club at his home last evening.

Miss Anna Adams of the post office force, left yesterday for a three-days' visit to New York.

A club shoot will be held by the Merchantville Gun Club to-morrow afternoon.

"I suffered habitually from constipation. Doan's Regulets relieved and strengthened the bowels, so that they have been regular ever since."—A. E. Davis, grocer, Sulphur Springs, Tex.

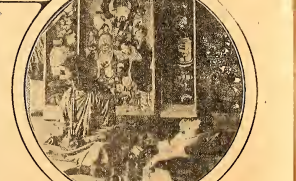
Chinese in a Poppy Field.



In a Chinese Opium Den

By ALLAN L. BENSON.

A NATIONAL vice that does not pay is in a bad way. It's like a brainless man who has become penniless—it has no friends.

Therefore, when the statesmen of the earth reached the tardy conclusion that the encouragement of opium-smoking really did not pay, the gaunt giant of the poppy fields was ready to be bowled over. At this propitious moment the United States Government, which had never sought to fatten on the opium traffic, initiated a world-wide fight against it.

That was two years ago. China, which for 700 years had alternately fought against and wrung revenue from its greatest national weakness, rallied for another attack.

First an edict went forth that every Chinese official who smoked opium must forthwith cease to do so.

Then the common people of China were notified that they, too, must soon stop. The common people, however, were given ten years in which to taper off the habit to the vanishing point.

China also entered into an agreement with Great Britain to decrease, year by year, the area devoted to poppy culture in China and in India.

But it is at Shanghai that the nations of the earth are drawing back to deliver what it is hoped will prove to be the knockout blow. In this Far Eastern city assembled last week the International Opium Congress. This body, which is still in session, was convened upon the initiative of the Government of the United States. Bishop Charles H. Brent of the Episcopal Church of the Philippines is the leading American delegate. In fact, it was he who began the agitation that resulted in a determined governmental attempt to stop opium smoking in our Oriental islands, perhaps it would also be true to say that to Bishop Brent, more than any other individual, is due the credit for America's initiative in calling the International Opium Congress.

But that isn't all. Even while the Bishop and his American associates were attending the Shanghai Congress last week, the American Congress was passing a bill absolutely to prohibit the importation of smoking-opium into the United States. The bill is now before the President, and, of course, will be signed by him.

✢ ✢ ✢

This bill is of more importance than most persons suspect. During the eleven months that ended on Nov. 30, 1908, there were brought into the United States 149,136 pounds of smoking-opium, the value of which was $1,267,234. During the same period in 1907, only 121,095 pounds were imported. These figures show how rapidly the habit was growing.

Of course one does not need to go far to find the reason for America's opposition to the opium-smoking habit. As a people, we do not burn the poppy's blood, and we are not greedy enough to care to continue to collect the $6 a pound tax that we have levied on the opium that the Chinese and the white degenerates want to smoke. But how comes it that England, which once fought for opium with her armies and her fleets, is now represented in the Shanghai Congress? And how comes it that China, whose public officials have so long fattened on the taxes wrung from the traffic, is sitting beside England? Back of these circumstances is a profound economic fact.

✢ ✢ ✢

This fact is that opium smoking does not pay. It never paid—but shorter-sighted governmental officials long thought it did. Yet the changed view has not its origin in the failure of tariffs and imposts of various sorts to wring enormous sums from those who smoke the Oriental pipe. Here is the real story in three sentences:

Men, to pay taxes, must first be born.

After birth they must have strength and industry.

And they must not die until they are too old to work.

Now see what opium does:

In those families where the father smokes opium the average number of children is 1.09. The few children who are born and who reach maturity are poor workers, and they die young.

Here is the world crying for efficiency and prodigious production. Here are the great nations scanning their budgets and their industries in desperate desire to raise the enormous sums with which to maintain their armies, increase their navies, and carry on their other great governmental activities. And here is opium palsying the hands that could turn many a wheel.

Is it any wonder that the Shanghai Congress is in session; that the poppy fields are giving way to rice, and that the American Congress has passed a bill excluding smoking-opium? The statesmen of an older school, it is true, would have done otherwise. They would have clutched the penny-tax and lost the ultimate dollar. But even England is no longer so unwise. England knows that her Dreadnoughts were not launched from poppy fields; that they were made possible only by the well-worked mines and mills and farms of England. And while she is aware that she could continue to reap a pittance from the poppies, she is now seeking bigger things. She wants to tax the greater products of vigorous men.

Yet what a fight it has been for China to see this happy day when the world's interest in this matter has become like her own! It's a fight that began 700 years ago, and it illustrates, as nothing else can, the peculiar strength and the peculiar weakness that are inherent in the Chinese character. It also affords one of the few illustrations of the superiority of autocratic government over popular rule. For while the people of China, after they became enslaved by the opium habit, always vigorously fought for it, even as they are now rioting against the curtailment of the poppy fields, the Government has always opposed it, precisely as it opposes it to-day. Sometimes it has yielded to exterior force, and then it has shown its weakness by impoverishing with taxes those whose bodies opium was impoverishing.

Opium was unknown in China until the latter part of the twelfth century. Who brought it there perhaps does not make so much difference, since it is there, but the British say the Arabs did. At any rate, the dried juice of the poppy came from some of the Eastern European or Western Asiatic countries, where it had been known for a hundred years prior to the Christian era. And at first it was used only for medicinal purposes. Then, as now, many Chinese were afflicted with fevers, and opium helped them.

Meantime the Turks had introduced opium into India, where the natives soon engaged in its cultivation on a large scale. The Chinese, after forming the opium habit, then bought their supplies in India. At that time there was a considerable export trade from China to India, and the junks that carried other merchandise from the Celestial Empire brought back the raw material from which opium is made.

In 1368 the habit had become so widespread that the Emperor, noting its ill effects, issued an imperial decree against the use of and the traffic in opium. In the original decree he prescribed only moderate penalties for its violation, but, as his subjects did not obey him, he increased the severity of the penalties until death or transportation became the lot of every one who persisted in the use of the baneful pipe. And, as the Chinese had then been smoking opium less than fifty years, they broke off the habit, just as an American youth, who has smoked tobacco only a year or two can give up the use of tobacco.

But, like the American boy who "swears off" and then in two months goes back to his tobacco, the Chinese in a few years resumed the use of opium, and again a stern Emperor stopped it. Nor was opium again smoked in China until the latter part of the eighteenth century.

✢ ✢ ✢

British rule having been imposed upon India, the Government in 1757 granted to the East India Company a monopoly of the trade in opium. The East India Company at once cast its eyes Chinaward. There it saw an Emperor who had forbidden the importation or use of opium; there it also saw laws fixing the opium smoker's penalty at death. But there it also saw Chinese gold, and plans were at once laid to provide the Chinese with opium whether their Emperor would have it or not.

The scheme devised was for British ships to lie off Chinese ports and deliver opium to such Chinese merchants as might come out to buy. And the plan worked so well that in 1790 600,000 pounds of the forbidden product were sold in China.

Of course the Chinese Government did not sit idly by. It cut off a few heads and sent many persons out of the country for the country's good; but the smoking of opium went on. What's the threat of death to a man who wants to do something? Around the world in England at that very moment men were stealing five-shilling purses and being hanged for it. And the Chinese continued to smoke their opium. In 1830 the East India Company sold to them and they smoked 2,500,000 pounds. The East India Company was becoming rich and the British Government took toll from its trade.

History records the fact that in the year 1837 the Chinese Emperor screwed up his courage and talked fight. The sale of opium to his subjects must stop. The supply ships that were lying outside his harbors must clear out. If they didn't there would be trouble. So he said in his proclamation.

The British East India Company treated him as if he were a chattering child. Not a ship moved. Not a Chinaman came after opium who did not get it. Everything went on as before.

✢ ✢ ✢

But the Emperor was no chattering child. He was a raging, roaring old man. He felt precisely as the Bostonese did when the tea-laden British ships came in after their tax. And he did precisely what the citizens of Boston did—boarded the ships, by proxy of course, and dumped the opium into the ocean—3,000,000 pounds of it!

Of course this act was construed by the British to constitute a cause for war, and hostilities were opened as soon as the aggrieved persons could get their guns into action. This was in 1840. The Chinese, even in that day, were as poor fighters as they are now. In a little while a British fleet had captured Chusan. The next year the Bogue forts fell, and then Canton, Amoy, Shanghai, Chapoo, and a lot of other places gave up the ghost. By 1842 the Chinese Emperor was very glad to buy peace by ceding Hongkong, paying an indemnity of $21,000,000, and throwing open four ports to foreign trade. He even humiliated himself by degrading Commissioner Lin who had carried out the Emperor's orders. Nor did he get even the thanks of his own subjects for his efforts in their behalf. The whole empire was torn with rebellion. Rebel armies robbed, murdered, and plundered almost as they pleased. If they had had an intelligent leader who could have welded them together and directed them with spirit, they might have done away with old Taou-kwang, but in 1850 he saved them the trouble by dying.

From that day until two years ago no Chinese Emperor dared say anything against smoking. The Chinese raised poppies in nine of the eighteen provinces of their country, and would have raised more if the climate and the soil had been suitable. From an importer of the drug China has become an exporter. Almost all of the opium that is brought into the United States comes from the Flowery Kingdom. No longer does it pay tribute to Britain for its supplies. Britain can tax the trade in her own India, but that's a good deal like trying to lift herself by her own bootstraps. And, as was said at the beginning, when a national vice does not pay it is in a bad way—and the representatives of Britain are now sitting beside those of China in the Shanghai Congress.

The Chinese Consul in New York was sought to throw light on the efforts of his Government, after seventy years of silent resignation, to free its subjects from the opium habit. He was educated at George Washington and Columbia Universities and speaks English well.

✢ ✢ ✢

"Will the Chinese," he was asked, "be able to break off the opium habit in the ten years in which they have been given to do it?"

"I think so," he replied. "The Government has already taken extraordinary measures to curtail the sale of the drug, and the increasing difficulty with which it may be obtained will assist victims of the smoking habit in breaking off. It used to be, for instance, so that any coolie in a city need not go more than half the length of one of your city blocks to find a place where he could buy all the opium he wanted or could pay for, more than that, there were in all Chinese cities places where anybody could go to smoke, the pipes and other appliances being furnished by the proprietors. These places were for the accommodation of the poorer class of Chinese who could not afford to own pipes. It was the custom of Chinese laborers to drop into these resorts two or three times a day and smoke, just as an American laborer may take a glass of beer at noon and another at night.

"All this is now changed. The Chinese Government has imposed the same sort of regulations upon the sale of smoking opium that many American municipalities have imposed upon the sale of liquor. Not only is a heavy license fee charged, but only the better class of men are permitted to engage in the business. The result is a marked decrease in the number of places in which opium can be bought or smoked."

"Is the smoking of opium a habit with which the greater part of the population of China is afflicted?"

"No, I don't think so. Very few of the upper classes use the drug to excess. A well-to-do Chinese may smoke now and then, but he can hardly be said to have the habit. That is why the edict in which public officials were forbidden, on pain of instant dismissal, to smoke at all, was so easily obeyed. If the public officials of America were suddenly ordered to stop smoking cigars I imagine the command would be obeyed only with the greatest difficulty by some of the men who have been using tobacco twenty, thirty, or forty years. They have the habit. That's the difference—public officials in China have not the opium habit.

"It is unfortunately true that the lower classes in the cities are slaves of the pipe. When a poor man lives on a farm, he seems to get along easily without using opium, but when he comes to the city he picks up the habit within a year. If he smokes in moderation, no great harm seems to come to him for a while, though ultimately it undermines his health. But the trouble is that few Chinese in the cities use opium moderately. They soon smoke as many times as they can during the day, and go at it again at night, continuing until sleep overpowers them. In this way they economize on food, for one who smokes immoderately cannot eat much, and they are also able to do a great amount of work for a while without feeling the usual fatigue.

"Yet the health of such as these invariably soon gives way. First they become ghastly thin—sometimes almost approaching the skeleton stage—then they lose strength, ambition, and lastly life itself.

"In the country it is different. Many farmers who raise poppies do not smoke opium. As a result they have good health and live long. It is not unusual for a Chinese farmer to reach the age of 70 or 80, and occasionally one hangs on until he is 100."

Those who have believed that opium smoking is a national vice in China will perhaps be surprised at the Consul's statement to the contrary. Yet this statement is verified by the fact that China's birth rate remains moderately high, notwithstanding the low rate in the cities, where opium is used.

But, if the Consul's statement be surprising, what must be said of that of Dr. Hamilton Wright, one of the American delegates to the Shanghai Congress? Dr. Wright says the Chinese who are resident in America are rapidly giving up the use of the drug. The better class of Oriental exiles not only do not smoke, but regard with scorn any of their countrymen who do.

Why, then, are the importations of smoking opium into the United States increasing? And who smoked the million and a quarter dollars' worth that was imported in the first eleven months of last year?

In the answer to these questions lies the interest of the United States in excluding opium from this country and stopping its use everywhere. The fact is that American women, or at least white women, used a large part of the smoking opium that was brought into the country last year, and therefore supplied much of the great sum that went to pay for it. Even the lowest white men are not likely to develop a hankering for opium, but degraded white women yield to it as readily as any Chinese ever did. Possibly they want to forget—perhaps opium helps them to blot out for a time that which they would not remember. In any event, every great city contains places where women may go to smoke opium, and in New York in particular, one need not go far down the hall of many a cheap lodging house to catch the fumes of the drug with which [illegible] wrestled for 700 years.

If white women used even half of the smoking opium that was brought to the United States last year, and each woman during the year bought $20 worth, there are 30,000 such women in this country. It doesn't seem possible! But the opium was brought here, sold, paid for, and smoked, and those who are most familiar with the facts say that white women used much of it.

Such despondency as they never knew will be ahead of these women after the bill to exclude smoking opium becomes a law. To be caught smoking or merely to be found with the drug in one's possession will then make the offender liable to two years' imprisonment. Yet precisely as there were Chinese 600 years ago who lost their heads because they could not forego their pipes, doubtless there are American women who will go to prison if they can get the forbidden drug with which to violate the law. For it is as difficult to break a bad habit as it is form a good one.

And what of the world-wide effects if the Shanghai Congress should reach an agreement that would ultimately place opium smoking among the abandoned vices?

Perhaps China will awaken as Japan has awakened. No one can safely take the negative of this suggestion, because nothing can be deader than dead—and Japan, which is now commercially and industrially alive, was, until half a century ago, commercially dead. If China should drop the pipe and take up the [illegible] of modern industry she [illegible] make trouble for the rest of the world. She has cotton enough and men enough to supply all of the inhabitants of the earth at a lower price than they can make the same materials for themselves. All she needs is machinery and energy. And she has lumber, iron, potential grain crops, and other resources beyond the ability of a mathematician to compute.

We poor humans have a way of often aiming at one thing and striking another. How unexpected but not how strange would it be if the Shanghai Congress should vary the procedure a little by knocking out the opium giant and awakening the colossal Oriental sleeper with the same blow?

James J. Hill would not be surprised. Many others would not be surprised. Mr. Hill and the others believe the awakening is destined to come soon; that any jar is likely to bring it about, and that when it comes China will swamp the markets of the world with its cheap products.

That's why Mr. Hill cries "Back to the land," and others cry other things, each having his particular remedy.

Prehistoric Laundries in Mexico

Although They Bear Glowing Names They Are Marked by Decidedly Venerable Features.

"YOU New Yorkers may kick all you like about the way the laundries here chew up your clothes, but you ought to live in Mexico a while to appreciate how much you undervalue the way your washing is done here," said a man who has spent several years in the capital of Diaz's Republic yesterday.

"There are only two steam laundries in Mexico," he went on, "and those are in the chief city of that country. They are owned and patronized solely by the American population, which numbers several thousands. They kick about them a-plenty, but even these steam outfits have a shade the best of it compared with the way the washing is done for the seventeen odd millions who make up the balance of the population—and who do have washing done.

"The washerwomen—'lavanderas,' they call 'em—cleanse the clothes the same way that they did in prehistoric days; spread the garments on a flat rock by some pool or stream and pound them vigorously with another flat stone whenever there are any spots that will not come out readily with rubbing. The spot generally disappears, but leaves a hole in its place.

"Soap is expensive, so the native women use plenty of 'elbow grease.' They do not boil the clothes under any circumstances, for fuel is a costly luxury. They have no tubs, and the first convenient wet spot, no matter how covered with pretty, green slime, is where the operation is carried on.

"The vegetable growth on the top of the water can easily be pushed aside. If a running stream is handy, so much the better from a sanitary point of view, but that is something they never think of. When the clothes have been rubbed and pounded sufficiently they are spread on bushes to dry, and the fierce vertical sun of midday does more than anything else to whiten them.

"After they are ironed they are hung on the end of a forked pole and carried through the streets to the customer's house. If the day is dusty they collect more germs in this way. This public exhibition of the 'interior clothes,' as the Mexicans call them, is the only way the Mexican laundry has of advertising.

"There are a few Mexican laundries that employ a number of women to do washing, but in most of these the ironing only is done. These laundries are in low adobe buildings with gaudily painted fronts and each bears a fanciful name—misnomers, rather.

"My wife had her work done for some time at the 'Laundry of the Gates of Heaven,' then she tried the 'Evening Star.' When I left she was thinking about changing to one in Mosquito Street called 'The Conquerors of the Gate of the Sun.' They are all bad, though, but one has to get used to such things in Mexico."

DAY'S NEWS IN COLLINGSWOOD

Council Passes Resolution Agreeing to Bear Share of Expense for Paving Pike.

PERSONAL GOSSIP OF INTEREST TO ALL

Collingswood Borough Council held an adjourned meeting last evening that was of vital importance to the town. The Council passed unanimously a resolution offered by Councilman Jack, the adoption of which was urged in a strong speech by Mayor Collings. The resolution shows that the people of Collingswood do not intend to have their hands tied in the matter of paving Haddon avenue despite the objections that Haddon township has thrown in the way. The resolution authorized the borough to curb Haddon avenue from City Line to Cuthbert's road, pay 10 per cent. of the cost of paving and keep the road in condition after the paving is done.

In an interview this morning in regard to the passage of these far-reaching resolutions, Mayor Collings said: "I mean to fight to the end for the paving of Haddon avenue. The borough's improved streets are being ruined for a whole square either side of Haddon avenue and it costs dearly to be constantly removing from the improved streets dirt washed on them from Haddon avenue.

Further Collingswood is losing the use of many thousands of dollars worth of drainage along Haddon avenue that cannot be used on account of the dirt shutting up the inlets. The borough has struggled for five years for the improvement of Haddon avenue and doesn't feel that it should be held up because Haddon township objects to the grade. Collingswood is at that end of the pike where the action of the township need not hold up its effort to improve. I am strong for the paving of Haddon avenue. The town demands it."

The question as to the Board of Health mix-up was deferred to a later meeting.

A resolution was adopted to be sent to Trenton objecting to the passage of any bill legalizing the playing of Sunday base ball, golf or liquor selling. Council further decided to have all fire plugs in the town equipped with steamer attachment so that the town may have additional fire protection. A policeman has been sent about the borough to ascertain how many fire hydrants were without this attachment and how many were not. Council adjourned to meet at the call of the chair.

BOROUGH BITS.

The Friday night assembly will hold its regular dance to-night in Tatom's Hall. Messrs. Wiley Knebel, C. Russ, McCoy and Gillingham, who constitute the reception committee, are endeavoring to make Lincoln's Birthday a memorable occasion. Members are requested to be present promptly at 8.15.

Last evening fifteen members of the class of 1911 of the Collingswood High School under the chaperonage of a member of the high school faculty, Miss Anna B. Kiermeir, journeyed to the observatory of the University of Pennsylvania at Darby. The evening being very clear the embryo astronomers obtained a very fine view of the heavens. They were all accorded a look through the large telescope. Many of the students have become so interested in astronomy that the Collingswood High School may produce another Copernicus or Galileo.

This afternoon an intra-town soccer foot ball game is scheduled. The game will be played in Knight Park. The players are mostly from the High School.

The schools and the National Bank are the only institutions celebrating the centennial of Abraham Lincoln.

Funeral services will be held over the body of Mrs. R. E. Murphy at her late home on Haddon avenue at 8 o'clock this evening. To-morrow morning the body will be taken to South Dennisville, where interment will take place.

Mrs. Parcells, of Philadelphia, will address a meeting to-night in the First Methodist Episcopal Church under the auspices of the local branch of the Women's Christian Temperance Union. Everyone, young and old, are invited to hear this able speaker.

Rev. J. S. Thomas will be the guest of Rev. Horace S. Miller, at Heislerville, N. J., from to-morrow until Monday, and will preach in the Heislerville M. E. Church Sunday morning and evening when "Parents' Day" will be celebrated. At the morning service several will be baptized, and in the afternoon at the Junior League service. Mr. Thomas will deliver an address. The church will be decorated with flags and bunting.

BADLY INJURED UNDER WHEELS

John Brown, Gloucester Plumber, Knocked Down by Woodbury Team.

DAY'S NEWS FROM OUR SISTER CITY

John Brown, a plumber living in Gloucester City, was run down by a team owned by Jacob Braunstein, of Oak street, Woodbury, early last evening on Jersey avenue, Gloucester, and painfully bruised about the face and body and his right wrist broken.

He was picked up by several men who saw the accident, and Dr. J. A. Beek was summoned and he was sent to Cooper Hospital.

After having his injuries dressed he was brought back to Gloucester.

LEFT TEAM IN FLIGHT.

Thomas Cogan, John Boden and George Henry Green, residents of Gloucester City, yesterday afternoon while walking out Market street to Mt. Ephraim saw two Italians picking up fish plates and other pieces of iron from the top of the new freight branch of the West Jersey and Seashore Railroad Company.

When the Italians ran Cogan and Boden made an investigation. They discovered a one-horse team containing several bags of fish plates and other metal.

Going on top of the roadbed they found four more bags of fish plates, and they made up their minds that the two Italians were junk thieves. By this time the foreigners had made good their escape and the team was taken to the City Hall.

The Italians went toward Camden and word was telephoned to the police there, and the two men were captured and taken back to the City Hall.

VALUABLE LINCOLN RELICS.

A copy of a Philadelphia newspaper announcing the arrival of the body of President Lincoln on display in a Philadelphia department store was loaned by the widow of Captain Lewis H. Reilly, of Gloucester. Mrs. Reilly viewed the remains of President Lincoln in Philadelphia.

Captain Reilly commanded the Seventh Regiment, Seventh Pennsylvania Reserves at the funeral of the President. Mrs. Reilly also heard President Lincoln in his campaign tours, and has seen every President dating from Buchanan to the present time.

Mrs. Reilly has a newspaper printed in Vicksburg, Miss., the last paper printed by the Confederates during the siege of that place. It is printed on the back of wall paper, as no other kind of paper was available.

She also has a valise used in carrying the mail to and from the President and Generals on the battle field, and also has a collection of other very valuable papers.

POLICE AID WORRIED MOTHER.

Two weeks ago Chief of Police Goan, of Gloucester City, received a communication from Fred H. Brennecke, superintendent of police of Evansville, Indiana, asking information about William C. Bowers, 23 years of age, whose home was in the former place and who had been boarding at 313 Mercer street, Gloucester.

It is said that he had stopped communicating with his mother and she feared that something had happened to him. After making a general search Chief Goan learned that the young man was married two months ago to a Camden girl and is living at 227 Mechanic street, Camden, and he has sent word to Evansville to this effect.

ROBBED AS THEY DINE.

Early last evening while the family of Louis Sipple was at supper at their home, 219 Monmouth street, Gloucester City, a sneak thief entered the parlor and made off with a lady's hat and coat, valued at $25, and several other small articles. Chief of Police Goan was notified.

HONORING LINCOLN.

Lincoln's Birthday is being generally observed in Gloucester City today. The schools, bank and several stores are closed but there are no special celebrations in the city. The school children yesterday held exercises appropriate to the occasion in each of the rooms.

LONG WEDDED BLISS.

Jacob F. Stetser, the well-known news dealer in Gloucester City, and wife last night was given an agreeable surprise at their home, 16 North King street, when their eight sons and daughters and six grandchildren tendered them a reception in honor of the thirty-fifth anniversary of their wedding.

It was a regular family reunion and Jake and his wife seemed as young as their children. It was a memorable occasion.

FOR EARLY SPRING

Young girls' coats for the early season are a little shorter than those that have been worn throughout the winter and this one, in simple military style, makes a pronounced favorite. It can be used with skirt to match, as in this instance, or it can be made from dark blue cloth and utilized as a separate wrap and in either case it is just as smart and desirable as well can be. The simple skirt is cut with the favorite high waist line and suits young girls peculiarly well. In the illustration the entire costume is made of serge, and serge promises to be extensively worn throughout the entire season, but there are a great many newer suitings that could be substituted and broadcloth is always handsome and always correct. If the distinctive military effect is not liked the coat can be cut out to form a V-shaped neck as shown in the smaller view.

For the sixteen year size will be required, for the coat 4⅝ yards of material 27, 2⅝ yards 44, 1⅞ yards 52; for the skirt 7⅝ yards 27, 3½ yards 44, 2¾ yards 52 if there is figure or nap; 6 yards 27, 2¾ yards 44 or 2⅜ yards 52 inches wide will suffice, however, if there is no up and down.

A pattern of the coat, No. 6254, or of the skirt, No. 6220, sizes 14 and 16 years, will be mailed to any address by the Post-Telegram on receipt of ten cents for each.

PENN AND COLUMBIA BASKET BALL TO-NIGHT

By United Press Wire.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—The game to-night between the Columbia and Pennsylvania fives will likely decide the inter-collegiate basket ball championship.

Columbia has gone through the season without a defeat while the University of Pennsylvania team has been beaten in only one game, that with Yale.

LINDEN'S PASTOR IS DOWN WITH THE GRIP

Rev. George W. Peck, Jr, the pastor of the Linden Baptist Church, has been ill all this week with the grip and arrangements have been made with Rev. Miles S Read, of Haddonfield, to take charge of affairs for him for the time being. Mr. Read will preach both morning and evening on Sunday next. He is an old favorite with the Linden people and will, doubtless, receive a warm greeting.

The pastor has the sympathy of his people in his illness and all hope for a speedy recovery to health. The month of January and early part of this month were strenuous times for Pastor Peck, as they covered the period of the special services which were inaugurated by the church on the first of January. The pastor personally conducted these services, was on hand every night and did much visiting besides. The result of the work has been the conversion of some fifty persons.

MELROSE IS VICTOR IN LEAGUE CONTEST

Melrose traveled to Stratton Hall last night and defeated the crack Heslin team in an American Amateur League game by the score of 28 to 23 in one of the best games of the season. The game was fast and rough, mostly all players getting hurt or taking time out. The spectators were rooting and cheering their heads off for the local boys to win.

The game started off with a rush, Melrose getting the lead at the start and kept it up during the game. The first half ended 16 to 11. The second half started off with the same old vim, each player being after the ball to try and win the game. The guard work of Logan and Thompson especially the latter, can't be given too much credit. The work of Kane and O'Brien and Howell seemed to bewilder the Heslin bunch, and the playing of Malcomson and H. Stoll, of Heslin, was clever. In general the game was fast from start to finish, everybody going home satisfied with the results.

HADDON LIKES LIBRARY PLAN

Councilmen Express Favor With Proposition to Take Over Reading Rooms.

BUDGET OF GOSSIP FROM THE BOROUGH

Haddonfield will beyond a shadow of doubt have a free public library of its own by this time next year. Last evening the public meeting of the Athenaeum Library Company and Haddonfield Library Company was attended by the Borough Council and the voters of the town. The library companies had called Council together to ask them to take over the libraries and make them public institutions supported by the town. The meeting was held in the Haddonfield Opera House and although it was not largely attended still the readers and students of the town were present and the enthusiasm over the project was unbounded. The principal address of the evening was made by Miss Sarah B Askew, organizer of the State Library Commission. Miss Askew explained in a very interesting speech the working of the whole proposition, giving everything in detail. After her address she was asked numerous questions regarding a free institution of that character in a town the size of Haddonfield. They were all satisfactorily answered and the voters felt that a free library was really a necessary adjunct. Miss Askew was followed by Howard M Cooper, of Camden, who has had much to do with the libraries in that city. The borough will be required to find a location for a suitable building. The library will be supported by the borough and a tax of not less than one-third of a mill or more than one-half a mill will be levied. Dr. Stevenson spoke for the Borough Council and said that the best thing for the library companies to do would be to get their propositions in a flawless form and then Council would sanction it and call for an election, thus giving the people their prerogative of accepting or declining. Dr Stevenson went on to say that he felt assured that the proposition would go through if it was arranged so as to be brought up at the election next November. There is little doubt but what the borough will readily accept control.

The Robert F. Young class of the Haddonfield Baptist Sunday-school has invited the men of the Bible class to join with them in a reception and social next Thursday evening. The men's Bible class has accepted the invitation. The event will resemble a banquet in many respects. It is to be a purely stag affair and for one evening the good husbands of the town will be given the opportunity to break loose.

Martin Schlecht, Sr., died yesterday at his home on Lake street, after an illness of nearly a year. Mr. Schlecht was 76 years old. He has been until recently actively engaged in the baking business on East Main street, but during the last few years the business has been carried on by his sons. Mr. Schlecht was a thrifty German who together with his brother J. Schlecht came to this country at the beginning of the California gold craze. They went to California and lived in the Sacramento valley until the gold fever

LAWYER RAKES LORD STIRLING

Solicitor Says He Did Not Accuse Wife Until He Was Discovered.

VISITS TO COTTAGE WARRANT DIVORCE

By United Press Wire.

EDINBURGH, Feb. 12.—The final struggle in the counter divorce suits of John Alexander Stirling and Mrs. Clara Elizabeth Stirling began to-day with speeches of the opposing counsel. Solicitor General Ure, who since the retirement of Lord Advocate Ead has been the chief counsel for Mrs. Stirling, summed up Mrs. Stirling's case.

"When Stirling met Mrs. Mabel Atherton," Ure said, "her record was already impeccable, her talent for intrigue was great, her attractions obvious and her whole career such that no man of the world, such as Stirling, could have undertaken an acquaintance with her innocently.

"The affair between them ripened rapidly and it was not long until we hear them addressing each other by pet names. Stirling visited Mrs. Atherton's bedroom, but we do not allege that any gross misconduct occurred there. But in Paris the conduct of these two was such that it could not escape notice.

"When he found himself discovered Stirling sought to find a counter blast in accusation against his wife. He complained to Lord Northland as the most likely one to attempt to have involved with his wife. His utter hypocrisy is shown, however, by the fact that after complaining to Northland he continued to welcome him to his house as his guest.

"The secret visit of Stirling and Mrs. Atherton to the cottage at Sandown would be enough to give Mrs. Stirling a divorce even if we had no other evidence. When Stirling finally pretended to seek a reconciliation with his wife he imposed conditions which he knew no self-respecting woman could accept. He sought to besmirch her name and to make her bear the burden of guilt for his own derelictions."

Counsellor Clyde replied. He declared that Mr. Stirling's suit was not undertaken of her own volition but at the suggestion of her lawyers.

CONVICT FATHER WHO KILLED GIRL'S LOVER

By United Press Wire.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 12.—The jury in the case of C. B. Smith, charged with the murder of Eugene A. Laurent today brought in a verdict of murder in the first degree.

At the time of the tragedy Smith said that he had killed Laurent because of the latter's mistreatment of his daughter.

On the day the trial opened, Miss Smith created a sensation by making a statement that there were no grounds for the father's suspicions.

WAS TWICE ACCUSED OF SAME OFFENSE

The bottom dropped out of a disorderly conduct charge against Edward Easton, a colored youth, in Police Court to-day. Easton was accused of hurling a brick at Laura Williams, of 811 Silver street, because she made remarks about him that he thought too "sagatiating." Laura eluded the missile by slamming the door but the brick kept clear on through the panels and temporarily crippled young George Williams in a back room.

Easton produced a glass diamond back terrapin and said that that was what he threw, not a brick, and he heaved it at the bunch because of the "sagatiating" remarks they made about him. Besides, he said the complainant had him fined $3.30 before 'Squire Baldwin last night for the very same thing.

On learning this fact Recorder Stackhouse dismissed the proceedings instituted before him against Easton.

TROUBLESOME BOYS AGAIN IN THE TOILS

Harry Calloway, aged 16 years, and Howard Thomas, aged 14 years, were arrested in a yard near Seventh and Berkley streets yesterday afternoon by Policeman Cattell on suspicion of being there for no good purpose. Thomas told Recorder Stackhouse in police court to-day that he and Calloway were only gathering paper in the yard at the time they were pulled in.

"What for?" asked Recorder Stackhouse.

"I wanted to get some money to buy me father some tobacco," was Thomas' queer explanation.

As both lads are already under the care of Mrs. Edna Van Hise, assistant probation officer, Recorder Stackhouse committed them to await her action.

MURDER OF LITTLE GIRL

By United Press Wire.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12.—Because her mother had spurned his advances and the girl refused to elope with him Demetri Dreschenko, a Russian, shot and instantly killed Dorothy Mankanoff, 12 years old, and then fired a bullet into his head.

He is dying.

ROOSEVELT AT BIRTHPLACE

Wilson, of Kentucky, and Secretary Wright followed in the order named and Bishop Galloway of Mississippi pronounced the benediction.

PRESIDENT SPEAKS.

In the course of his remarks the President said:

"As a people we are indeed beyond measure fortunate in the characters of the two greatest of our public men, Washington and Lincoln. Widely though they differed in externals, the Virginia landed gentleman and the Kentucky backwoodsman, they were alike in essentials, they were alike in the great qualities which rendered each able to render service to his nation and to all mankind such as no other man of his generation could or did render.

"Each had lofty ideals, but each in striving to attain these lofty ideals was guided by the soundest common sense. Each possessed inflexible courage in adversity, and a soul wholly unspoiled by prosperity. Each possessed all the gentler virtues commonly exhibited by good men who lack rugged strength of character. Each possessed also all the strong qualities commonly exhibited by those towering masters of mankind who have too often shown themselves devoid of so much as the understanding of the words by which we signify the qualities of duty, of mercy, of devotion to the right, of lofty disinterestedness in battling for the good of others.

"There have been other men as great and other men as good; but in all the history of mankind there are no other two good men as great. Widely though the problems of to-day differ from the problems set for solution to Washington when he founded this nation, to Lincoln when he saved it and freed the slave, yet the qualities they showed in meeting these problems are exactly the same as those we should show in doing our work today.

"Lincoln saw into the future with the prophetic imagination usually vouchsafed only to the poet and the seer. He had in him all the lift toward greatness of the visionary, without any of the visionary's fanaticism or egotism, without any of the visionary's narrow jealousy of the practical man and inability to strive in practical fashion for the realization of an ideal. He had the practical man's hard common sense and willingness to adapt means to ends; but there was in him none of that morbid growth of mind and soul which blinds so many practical men to the higher things of life. No more practical man ever lived than this homely backwoods idealist; but he had nothing in common with those practical men whose consciences are warped until they fail to distinguish between good and evil, fail to understand that strength, ability, shrewdness, whether in the world of business or of politics, only serve to make their possessor a more noxious, a more evil member of the community, if they are not guided and controlled by a fine and high moral sense.

"Yet perhaps the most wonderful thing of all, and, from the standpoint of the America of to-day and of the future, the most vitally important, was the extraordinary way in which Lincoln could fight valiantly against what he deemed wrong and yet preserve undiminished his love and respect for the brother from whom he differed. In the hour of a triumph that would have turned any weaker man's head, in the heat of a struggle which spurred many a good man to dreadful vindictiveness he said truthfully that so long as he had been in his office he had never willingly planted a thorn in any man's bosom, and besought his supporters to study the incidents of the trial through which they were passing as philosophy from which to learn wisdom and not as wrongs to be avenged; ending with the solemn exhortation that, as the strife was over, all should reunite in a common effort to save their common country."

SENATOR LODGE SPEAKS IN BOSTON

By United Press Wire.

BOSTON, Feb. 12.—Chief of hundreds of Lincoln celebrations to-day in the towns, cities and hamlets of the Bay State was that in the Legislature where United States Senator Lodge delivered the oration on the life and works of the emancipator.

Both branches of the Legislature met at 11 o'clock and shortly before noon the Senate proceeded to the House chamber where with Governor Draper the members of the Executive Council and the heads of the State Departments, they listened to the eulogy.

THE CELEBRATION AT SPRINGFIELD

By United Press Wire.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 12.—Despite the threatening weather thousands of visitors flocked to this flag-bedecked home of Abraham Lincoln to-day.

Ambassadors Jusserand, of France, and Bryce, of England, and United States Senator Dolliver and William J. Bryan were the city's guests for the day and Bryan delivered the principal address at the mass meeting in the afternoon.

Robert Todd Lincoln, President Lincoln's son, was also a visitor, but came only in the capacity of a private citizen.

The day's program included:

Planting of an elm tree in the Court House yard on the spot where Lincoln's body lay in state; religious worship in the old church which Lincoln attended, dedication of a tablet to mark the place where Lincoln first opened a law office in this city and a visit of the distinguished guests of the city to the tomb of Lincoln.

At a mass meeting this afternoon addressed by Jusserand, Bryan and Dolliver, and presided over by Governor Deneen, 6,000 persons listened to Bryan's oration on "Lincoln, the Orator."

The event will close with a banquet at the State Arsenal to-night at which addresses will be delivered by Jusserand, Bryce, Bryan and Dolliver.

Plates have been laid for 800 and the galleries have been sold out. This is the banquet that has become celebrated in the Central West as the "$25 a plate dinner."

MOVE TO UPLIFT THE NEGRO RACE

By United Press Wire.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Accepting Lincoln's centennial anniversary as the most fitting time to launch their movement, more than fifty prominent teachers, preachers, publishers and professional men, interested in the advancement of the negro, to-day joined in a call "upon all the believers in Democracy to join in a national conference for a discussion of present evils, the voicing of protests and the renewal of the struggle for civil and political liberty."

Among those signing the call are Rev. Charles H. Parkhurst, New York; Judge Wendell Stafford, Washington, and Oswald Garrison Villard, editor of the New York Evening Post.

TWO DEAD IN MINE DISASTER

By United Press Wire.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Feb. 12—Two of the men entombed in the Red Oak vein of the Black Diamond colliery of the Plymouth Coal Company at Lucerne borough last night, were found dead this morning.

Three others who were entombed were rescued unconscious but will recover. Twenty-two mules were killed.

The dead are: Nicholas Mackitania and John Marevitch.

The fire was extinguished this morning after doing about $10,000 damage.

HITCHCOCK GOES TO CONFER WITH TAFT

By United Press Wire.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 12.—Frank H. Hitchcock, the new Postmaster General, is expected here this afternoon to talk over Cabinet possibilities with Mr. Taft. Taft had as his guest at breakfast today John C. Shaffer, editor of the Chicago Evening Post. The two held a long conference and it is believed it had to do with the possible selection of a Chicago man for either the Treasury portfolio or some other Cabinet berth. Taft would not comment on the report that George M. Reynolds had been offered the Treasury portfolio.

The first thing on the day's program was a speech to a mass meeting at Pelican Park, Utah, of the Colored Young Men's Christian Association. In his speech Taft said that the negro race must rely on its own works to elevate it in the community.

After the meeting Mr. Taft was taken on an automobile trip through the town and later he was a guest of the Country Club. This evening he will be the guest of honor at the Crumwald Hotel.

Early to-morrow morning he will leave for Cincinnati.

HOUSE COMMITTEE TO CONSIDER KNOX'S DISABILITY.

By United Press Wire.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—A meeting of the House Committee having charge of the bill to remove Senator Knox disability for service as Secretary of State will be held to-morrow.

It is confidently believed by the friends of Knox that the company will report in his favor.

HOUSE IN TURMOIL OVER CANAL SPEECH.

By United Press Wire.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Charging that the information upon which Rainey based his recent criticisms of the Panama canal deal came from ex-convicts, Representative Lovering (Rep. Mass.) threw the House into a turmoil this afternoon.

He grew so personal in his attacks upon Rainey that the House finally refused to allow him to proceed, in the absence of Rainey from the chamber.

TWO MEN MISSING; ONE FOUND DROWNED.

By United Press Wire.

RED BANK, N. J., Feb. 12.—The body of Percy Pitcher, a young man of Long Branch, was found to-day on the shore near Little Silver Point.

He left home yesterday to go hunting with Winfield Wood, a friend, and the absence of the latter deepens the mystery. The police believe that both men were drowned.

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.
To Mary E. Cave, and Thomas M. Cave, her husband:

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof, in a cause wherein the United Mutual Loan and Building Association is complainant, and you, Mary E. Cave, Thomas M. Cave, your husband, and Edward Connelly, are defendants, you are required to appear, plead, answer or demur to the bill of said complainant, on or before the fifteenth day of March next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed to foreclose two mortgages given by you, Mary E. Cave, and Thomas M. Cave, your husband, to said United Mutual Loan and Building Association, one dated the eighteenth day of January, A. D. one thousand nine hundred and seven, and the other dated the twenty-third day of August, A. D. one thousand nine hundred and seven, on lands in Gloucester City, New Jersey; and you Mary E. Cave are made a defendant because you own said lands or some part thereof, and you Thomas M. Cave are made a defendant because you are the husband of said Mary E Cave, and claim an interest in said lands or some part thereof.

TAFT WANTS PATH CLEAR

Is Anxious That Way be Opened to Permit Knox to Enter His Cabinet.

GIVES OUT DISPATCH HE SENT TO SENATOR

By United Press Wire.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Feb. 12.—All doubt of Senator Knox serving as Secretary of State in the Taft Cabinet in the event that the bill of Senator Hale which seeks to remove the constitutional bar is passed was dispelled today when the President-elect gave out a telegram he sent last night to Knox expressing his conviction that the proposed change in the civil appropriation bill so as not to increase the salary of the Secretary of State will make Knox eligible for the Cabinet. Taft's telegram was a reply to the following which he received from Knox upon his arrival here yesterday afternoon:

"A bill has been introduced in the Senate to remove the constitutional bar to my eligibility for the Cabinet by repealing the increase of salary for the Secretary of State. I am in no way promoting or having anything to do with the measure. It is a matter for you, as the appointing power, to first determine whether the proposed action is desirable or would be effective. I think our minds should be free from all doubt concerning the legality and propriety of the proposed plain before acquiescing in it. If you for any reason do not approve what is being done it should be known. Otherwise an injustice may be done whoever may be appointed.

(Signed) "P. C. KNOX."

Taft's reply was:

"New Orleans, La., Feb. 11.

"I sincerely hope that Congress will pass the bill to remove any doubt of Knox's eligibility. I have no doubt that a bill to repeal the bill increasing the salary of the Secretary of State will effect this purpose and I sincerely hope that it will pass.

"I should regard the loss of Senator Knox from the first place in my Cabinet as a public misfortune.

(Signed) "WILLIAM H. TAFT."

As the Senate has already passed the Hale bill and the House, it is expected, will offer no objections, Taft believes the matter is practically settled.

OPPOSITION BOBS UP TO SENATE PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—A flank movement has been attempted in the House in an effort to secure the passage of the bill that will enable Senator Knox to become Secretary of State. As soon as the Senate took up the subject members of the House began discussing it and this disclosed a strong opposition sentiment.

There has been of course no personal opposition to Knox, but the lawyers of the House very generally believe that no constitutional bill can be passed that will remove the disability from the Senator. This sentiment is very strong in the Judiciary Committee, to which, in the natural order of events, the Knox bill passed by the Senate will be sent.

If the bill were called up now it would mean a battle royal on the floor of the House. An effort is being made to have the members who are opposed to the passage of the bill be as polite as the Senators in like position and either keep silent or absent themselves when the bill comes up for consideration.

After listening to eloquent tributes to the memory of Lincoln by various members, the House took up the usual routine work.

ONE HUNDRED AMATEURS START MARATHON RACE

By United Press Wire.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—After covering 385 yards of the marathon distance of 26 miles and 385 yards on the floor of the Thirteenth Regiment Armory, Brooklyn, over one hundred amateur marathon runners left the armory at 2 o'clock this afternoon on a run to Sea Gate and back.

Among the men competing is Jim Crowley, the sensational runner of the Irish-American Athletic Club.

PERSONAL MENTION

—Grocer John Phillips, of Sixteenth and Federal streets, has been confined to his room by illness for several days.

—Mrs. Hannah Norcross, of Blackwood, is quite ill with quinsy at the home of her son, S. S. Norcross, 524 Grant street.

—Mrs. Walter Platt and son Alfred, of Bower, N. J., are visiting Mrs. Ellis Hibbs, of 522 Grant street.

—Joe Nible, of Sixth and Grant streets, is convalescent after an attack of scarlet fever.

—William Kramer, of 1719 Ferry avenue, is all smiles to-day over a visit of the stork. It is a bouncing baby boy and mother and babe are doing well.

—Charlie James is keeping his pitching arm in shape by hustling with the Camden basket ball team, which are usually victors, like at Burlington the other night.

—William Stille, the financial secretary of the Alpha Club, is sick in bed with the grip. His many friends wish him a speedy recovery and a quick return to his desk at the Victor talking machine plant, where he holds a responsible clerical position.

—"Buck" Weaver, who has been playing basket ball with Southside, of Pittsburg, in the Eastern League, has returned home and will be seen next Thursday night in the red and white uniform of the Alpha Club.

—Mrs. Eugene Bogart has appendicitis and will be operated on by Dr. E. A. Y. Schellenger.

BURN BODY OF MURDERED MAN

Remnants of Charred Robe and Oil Can Found Near Corpse.

POLICE HAVE NO CLUE TO VICTIM'S IDENTITY

By United Press Wire.

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Feb. 12.—The charred and smouldering body of a man, burned beyond recognition, was found on the outskirts of West Orange early to-day and the authorities believe they are confronted by a murder mystery.

They think that the man was murdered, his body carried to the sparse undergrowth at the spot where he was found, and burned to hide evidences of the crime.

Near the body was an empty oil can, the contents of which had been scattered about the dead man.

The police believe that an autopsy will show either a bullet hole or a knife thrust.

Remnants of charred cotton rope found near the body indicated either that the man had been killed while bound and helpless or a harness had been rigged to aid in handling the dead body.

The police have no clue.

TENDERED A PARTY TO SOLOMON WALLS

Captain George H. Walls and wife, of 714 Carman street, gave a birthday party in honor of their popular son, Solomon, last evening, Solomon having just turned eighteen years. The evening was most happily spent, the guests being regaled with vocal and instrumental music by Solomn Walls, Bertha Hammond and the Carman Quartette composed of J. Beitler, H. Anderson, Solomn Walls and Walter Lewis.

A delicious banquet was served the guests in a festal hall beautifully adorned with ferns and flowers and on the glistening table of which flowed eighteen candles in a fine, luscious shimmering pound cake, a present of Solomon Walls' happy-hearted mother and father.

Those who enjoyed the delightful affair were: Captain and Mrs. George Wells, Mrs. Hill, Master Thomas Hill, Captain and Mrs Thomas Walls, Solomon Walls, Miss May Ealer, Mr. and Mrs. H. Anderson, R. Magraw, of Oaklyn, Miss Sarah Palmer, Miss Bertha Hammond, Miss Rhina Peterson, Joseph Butler, Harry Butler, M. R. Johnson, Walter Lewis.

BAIL IS DENIED TO "ICE MAN" MORSE

By United Press Wire.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—The United States Circuit Court handed down a decision to-day denying the motion of Martin W. Littleton, counsel for Chas. W. Morse, for the release of Morse on bail.

The application was made pending the appeal from the 15-year jail sentence imposed on the financier.

LOCAL LIGHT LUNCHEON

• The ambulance took C. F. Clark, aged 61 years, from No. 8 Market street, where he was suddenly stricken, to his residence at No. 31 Cooper street, last evening about 5 30 o'clock.

• Policeman John Gilbert this morning found a negro at Front street and Kaighn avenue with a pushcart that was stolen from W. R Wood, of 412 Kaighn avenue, ten months ago. The negro told such a straight story as to how he got the cart that Mr. Wood decided not to prosecute him. The police say they will get the real thief as soon as Mr. Wood swears out a warrant for his arrest.

A GRACEFUL GOWN OF WOOL SATIN

No smarter combination can be found than the soutached or embroidered bodice with plain skirt and this one is chic and graceful and attractive in the extreme. It is made from the new wool satin while the guimpe portions are of tucked dotted net and the bodice decoration, or bolero-like garniture, which consists of two portions, combines the material braided with soutache with silk in matching color. Indeed, the gown is of one tone throughout, for the net has been dyed to match the cloth, but, being unlined, it gives a touch of daintiness and lightness to the entire toilette. Almost any one of the slightly heavier seasonable materials could be utilized for the design, the pongee that is so exceptionally handsome and varied this season, satin, chiffon broadcloth and the simple cashmere quite as well as the newer fabric illustrated. For the guimpe portion net is perhaps the favorite material, but net is treated in an infinite number of ways and lace and chiffon always can be substituted if preferred.

For the medium size will be required for the guimpe portion 3¼ yards of material 18; for under portion of the blouse garniture 1⅛ yards 21, 1 yard 32 or ¾ yard 44 inches wide, for the over portion ¾ yard 27 ⅝ yard 44 or 52 inches wide; for the skirt will be needed 6½ yards 24, 5 yards 32 or 3⅞ yards 44, 3 yards 52 inches wide.

A pattern of the blouse, No. 6256, sizes 32 to 42 inches bust, or of the skirt, No. 6226, sizes 22 to 32 inches waist, will be mailed to any address by the Post-Telegram on receipt of ten cents for each.

LEO GUILTY OF BURNING BRIDE

Jury in Newark Convicts Young Man of Murder in Second Degree.

ACCUSED HUSBAND EXPECTED ACQUITTAL

By United Press Wire.

NEWARK, Feb. 12.—Guilty of murder in the second degree was the verdict rendered last night at 9.52 o'clock by a struck jury in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in the case of Michael Leo, charged with burning to death his 18-year-old bride Angelina last March, in their home, 275 Morris avenue.

The prisoner did not move a muscle as the words which may send him to prison for thirty years were slowly and distinctly uttered, but his sister, Mrs. Joseph Pizzalato, of 172 Bruce street, who was seated in the front row of seats with relatives and friends, after making a painful effort to retain her composure, collapsed. She fell into the arms of her husband and was soon so hysterical that she had to be carried from the court room. Her shrieks could be heard for blocks as she was taken to her home in a carriage. Even after Leo had seen his sister swoon and heard her hysterical cries he maintained a stolid air of composure which seemed to border upon indifference.

Many of the countrymen of the accused man were in the court room when the verdict was announced. They remained in the court room to have a look at the convicted man, but he was taken out by a side door and hustled into a patrol wagon without delay.

While awaiting the verdict Leo expressed confidence in the jury, and said that he would be acquitted. In fact, after he knew that an agreement had been reached he told some of the guards what he was going to do and where he was going after the verdict had been announced. His sister had prepared everything for his comfort at her home.

The jury retired at 4.15 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and when they had given no indications of having reached a verdict at 8.30 o'clock it was believed that there would be no verdict for the night. Fears that no verdict would be reached gained stimulous because of the illness of Juror No. 7, James J. Van Order, of Caldwell, who fainted during the court proceedings in the afternoon. After the jury had retired he again gave indications of collapsing and a physician was summoned. He was very weak after the verdict had been rendered, and was sent to his home in an automobile in care of a physician. The afflicted juror had ben troubled by an aching tooth, and during recess yesterday afternoon he had the tooth extracted. He returned to the court room without taking the usual amount of nourishment and proved to be unable to stand the strain.

Judge Simon Hahn was present when the verdict was given, but former Judge Thomas S. Henry, who aided in Leo's defense, was not on hand, having left for Trenton at 4.30 o'clock in the afternoon. Judge Hahn asked that the jury be polled, and each man answered clearly "Murder in the second degree." Judge Ten Eyck thanked the jurors for their services, saying that they had proven to be a most capable and intelligent jury.

Judge Simon Hahn said last night that a motion for a new trial would be made on Saturday morning, upon the ground that the verdict was against the weight of evidence.

THE JUDGE'S CHARGE

Judge Ten Eyck began his charge at 5.30 o'clock, when Prosecutor Wilbur A. Mott had summed up for the State and former Judge Thomas S Henry had defended the prisoner by putting in a complete denial. The court in its charge covered the various degrees of murder and manslaughter and told the jurors that they should give the prisoner the benefit of every reasonable doubt under the law. Then the evidence was carefully gone over and the jurors were cautioned to give careful and deliberate attention to the evidence, free from prejudice and passion. The case before them, he said, was one of circumstantial evidence, as no eye-witness was present and the jurors were bound to render a verdict under their oaths from the nature of the facts and circumstances in the case.

"It is for you to say, gentlemen," said the court, "whether you are satisfied with the proofs offered by the State, and if you are you must find the defendant guilty."

SHOULD TRY TO SAVE WIFE

Referring to a husband's duty in helping his wife in times of danger, Judge Ten Eyck said:

"A man is bound to help as far as he reasonably can and exercise the means he can exercise up to the point of jeopardizing his own life, and if he fails to do so he is guilty of a crime. If he might have saved her and did not he is guilty of homicide, what degree depends upon the circumstances."

During Mr. Mott's summing up, in the course of which he insisted that Leo burned his wife to death so as to get the $2,500 insurance on her life, John J. Van Order, who was juror No. 7, created considerable excitement by fainting. He was seen to become suddenly pale and leaned heavily forward toward the foreman, Moses Plaut. Mr. Plaut at once noticed what the trouble was and seized Mr. Van Order before he could topple from his seat. Court Crier Elm rushed to the box and helped to hold the man in his chair and there was a call for a physician.

Dr. Frank Devlin, who was busy in another court, responded and after applying restoratives, Mr. Van Order having been led from the court room, was soon revived. Mr Van Order afterward smilingly apologized for the interruption his trouble had caused, and because of the crowded condition of the court room the judge ordered it cleared of everybody excepting the members of the bar and those actually engaged in the trial.

Mr. Mott's summing up lasted for one and one-half hours, while Mr. Henry's was an hour longer, and the latter strongly resented the use by Mr. Mott of the word "outrageous" as applied to him on the day before, and he declared the prosecutor guilty of misconduct in doing so.

"What is the main object of the prosecution?" asked Mr. Henry sharply. "It is to save an insurance company the sum of $2,500. It is safe to say that if the company had been totally disinterested and there had been no insurance on the life of the deceased woman there never would have been a prosecution. Is the question of dollars and cents to be considered in this case? I hope not. If that is so it is a sad commentary to be written upon Jersey justice."

Judge Henry's description of the agony Mrs. Leo suffered in burning to death caused Leo to break down and weep.

PAYS HOMAGE

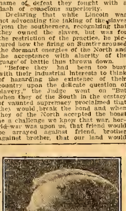
and political aspect, at once interesting and instructive."

Taking up the introduction of slavery almost with the coming of the first settlers the speaker depicted the advance of the country, dwelt eloquently on the making of the Declaration of Independence and the causes leading thereto and briefly recounted the controversy that resulted in the decision to restrict slavery in 1808. He pointed out that in the meantime the country was fast growing in wealth and that while newly-organized territorial governments were knocking at the door for admission the struggle was becoming more bitter and acrimonious. He pictured the men of the South as men of intelligence, boldness, aggressiveness, impetuousness and determination and said that without knowing the name of defeat they fought with a dash of conscious superiority.

MAYOR ELLIS,
Who Presided at the Big Meeting in Broadway M. E. Church.

Declaring that while Lincoln was not advocating the taking of the slaves from the southerners, recognizing that they owned the slaves, but was for the restriction of the practice, he pictured how the firing on Sumter aroused the dormant energies of the North and the acceptance with alacrity of the guage of battle thus thrown down.

"Before they had been too busy with their industrial interests to think of hazarding the existence of their country upon the delicate question of slavery," the Judge went on "But when they of the South in the ecstacy of vaunted supremacy proclaimed that they would break the bond and when they of the North accepted the boast as a challenge we knew that war, horrid war was upon us, that friend would be arrayed against friend, brother against brother, that our land would be drenched with fraternal gore, and our existence rocked as in the throes of an earthquake. Men offered their lives, their fortunes, their all, in a struggle for the maintenance of a principle, the inviolability of the constitution, the permanency of our republic.



CHARLES R. BACON,
Chairman of the Citizens' Committee which arranged the celebration.

"Those were stirring times; then it was that one's heart was tried and alternate hope and fear, when the daily paper was scanned for news from the front, and when we of the North looked to Abraham Lincoln as the one central figure around which all others were grouped and in which the hope of the nation was centered."

Entertainingly and step by step the speaker carried his attentive listeners through the life of Lincoln, graphically described his debates with Douglas and his ascendency to the Presidency, and continuing said:

"And now we pass hurriedly the farewell to his neighbors, the trip to Washington, the ovations on the way, the threats of assassination, the midnight journey through Baltimore, and the inauguration, and we see this offspring of the wilderness elevated to the highest place in the gift of his fellow citizens. Homely and rugged, but honest and sagacious, surrounded by discordant elements and warring factions, hearing all, weighing all, and acting on conviction and with courage, but a courage at all times tempered with discretion, sound sense and a regard for the rights of others.

"The abolutionists would have him demolish the fabric of slavery at one fell swoop, but such was not his idea. He was the head of a nation, not of a class, a faction, or a moiety. He represented all, and above all the majesty of the law. As Chief Executive it was his duty to enforce and preserve it. He found it in the constitution, upon the statute books, and in the opinions of the courts. His oath was to maintain and support, not to destroy and overthrow. The constitution had been promulgated upon the recognition of the existence of slavery, and the highest court had affirmed the legality of property in slaves. Lincoln abhorred it and abhorred the decision of the court, and he believed in a solution that would have been fair to all as the law then stood. He would not take from the slave owner his property except upon compensation, and he would limit the extension.

"The calm student of history, and believer in the sanctity of vested rights, cannot fail but admire the course of Lincoln. But when the Southern people seceded from the nation, when they fired the first shot, and preferred to submit their differences to the arbitrament of war, they stepped beyond the pale of the law, and made the way clear to the promulgation of the emancipation proclamation and to the adoption of the thirteenth amendment to the constitution.

"Lincoln, amidst al these troublous times never wavered, never faltered. His object was the preservation of the union, and the prosecution of the war to that end. Peace he longed for, but upon no other terms than the acknowledgment of the integrity of the nation. War was inhuman to him, like Washington he could say 'My first wish is to see this plague of mankind banished from off the earth,' but it was a dire necessity, it was an instance of evil that good might come.

"The fortunes of war were with the cause of the North and the country swelled with the paeans of Victory, only to have them drowned in the universal sorrow and mourning at the untimely death of this great and good man at the hand of the assassin, and in maledictions at the deep damnation of his taking off. It seemed as if the light of day had suddenly gone out, as if the luminary of our political life had been blotted out.

"Like Moses, Lincoln only saw the promised land. It was vouchsafed that he should lead us to the threshold only. It may be that his life's work was done, that it was time for him to rest. He himself once said to a delegation that it is generally the case that a man who begins a work is not the best man to carry it on to a successful termination. I believe it was so in the case of Moses, wasn't it? who got the children of Israel out of Egypt, but the Lord selected somebody else to bring them to their journey's end. A pioneer has hard work to do, and generally gets so battered and spattered that people prefer another man, though they may accept the principle.

"The life of Lincoln above all things teaches possibilities. It shows that great occasions exhibit the sterling qualities of great men. It would be an idle speculation to venture upon what he would have been had not the opportune moment arrived. But what made him the one man, of all, for the oportunity? Was it not study, reflection, reverence for learning, courage, high moral insight, humanity, and steadfast devotion to principle. There is no royal road to learning, to honor or to high distinction. The rail-splitter became the great President, the tanner the great General. The mischievous urchin sitting upon the curb stone munching a crust of bread may some day fill a niche high in his country's fame. Mischievous though he be, if he be truthful and honest, and a lover of knowledge he is upon the right path. Men make a nation, 'Men who their duties know, but know their rights, and knowing dare maintain.'

"But for the repeal of the Missouri compromise, and the deep moral tone of Lincoln's character he might have lived and died a Springfield lawyer. Does not his example behoove everyone to nourish his power for good, to cultivate the faculties which make for greatness. None knows when the opportunity may come, but if it never does, still such a life has not been a vain one, for as George Eliot says, 'The growing good of the world is partly dependent on unhistoric acts, and that things are not so ill with you and me as they might have been, is half owing to the number who lived faithfully a hidden life, and rest in unvisited tombs.'

"And when such a one comes to shuffle off this mortal coil, those who remain will say of him as we say of Lincoln 'His life was gentle, and the elements so mixed in him that nature might stand up and say to all the world this was a man.'

"Jefferson Davis declared that his assassination was a greater calamity to the South than to the North, and doubtless there are some here who have heard the adherents of the South say, as I have, that he was their best friend. In view of this and of his strong personality, his love for all and his belief that the vanquished people fought for what they thought to be a principle, is it too much to say that he would have never ceased in an effort to bind the two sections together by links never to be broken, so that if a foreign foe should attack, it could send to the field an army which, as General Grant declared, need fear no foe.

"Nearly half a century has passed since these stirring times, the two sections have fought side by side for the flag, and a distinguished Southern Statesman lately declared that when General Joe Wheeler climbed San Juan Hill the last vestige of the civil war was buried in oblivion, and we became again, in fact, as well as in theory, a united nation.

"And may we not add that if we have to go through harsh weather and boisterous waters some one will rise up, as heretofore he has arisen, to lead us safely to the shore. Like Washington who cut the Gordion knot in revolutionary times, like Marshall who placed the stamp of a nation upon our constitution, like Lincoln who saved it for us, some one surely will arise that government of the people, by the people and for the people shall not perish from the earth."

At the conclusion of the Judge's admirable address Miss Ada F. Piersol sang "God Our Fathers" from "Stabat Mater," after which the audience sang "The Star Spangled Banner," followed by a selection by the orchestra and the singing of "The Sword of Bunker Hill," by Frank G. Riggins, who possesses a rich baritone voice.

Lincoln's Gettysburg address was excellently read by Captain John W. Bodine, and after the audience had rendered "Nearer My God to Thee" Maurice J. Long recited Walt Whitman's "O, Captain, My Captain," one of Lincoln's favorite poems. With the singing of the Doxology by the audience and the Benediction by Rev. William L. Haines, pastor of Tabernacle Baptist Church, the meeting came to a close.

LARGE DOINGS ON MR. TOM'S BIRTHDAY

Over three hundred persons attended the reception given by Mr. and Mrs. F. Watter Toms, of 521 Ferry avenue, last night, in honor of the fiftieth birthday of the former. The house was beautifully decorated while the big porch and the lawn were lighted with Japanese lanterns.

Charles H. Mills, Albert James and William A. Husted assisted in receiving the guests. There was a fine program of vocal and instrumental music. An elaborate collation was served. Those present say that it was one of the finest affairs ever given in the Eighth ward.

CROWDS CHEER THE PRESIDENT

"This Has a White House Reception Skinned to Death," Tells Car-Shop Employes.

SPEAKS FROM REAR PLATFORM OF HIS CAR

By United Press Wire.

DENNISON, O., Feb. 12—Despite precautions to keep secret his exact whereabouts in advance of his arrival at the various brief stopping places in his rapid dash to the Lincoln farm in Kentucky, President Roosevelt has been outwitted.

He laughingly admitted to-day that he has been overthrown by his friends "the plain people." He has been detected in partial hiding in his private car in company with his wife and daughter, Secretary Wright and other friends, and been dragged into the open and on each occasion he gave many evidences of his pleasure in greeting the people for the last time as he emphasized, as chief executive.

In Altoona, Pa., when he found his car surrounded by railroad workmen inside the guard fence and several thousand people, men, women and children, packed on the depot platform between the fence and the station he assisted the Secret Service men to open the gate and drop the step on his observation car and in a jiffy was jubilantly pushing his way through the ranks of the sons of toil until he reached a truck near the fence which he mounted without assistance.

"I must say a word to those good friends," he exclaimed, as he was jostled by the workmen.

Above all rose the cheers of the crowds who never lost sight of him or his wife and daughter at the window of his car behind him.

"I just could not go away without letting you know how mighty glad I am to see you and what pleasure it is to be in Pennsylvania again, the State that has always stood by me," he exclaimed.

"I have tried to do my duty," he started to say when he was met with a tremendous shout of "You have, you have."

Retracing his steps to his car he received the several hundred workmen with their grimy hands and in their oily clothes as they had just come from the shops, giving to each a warm hand clasp and a cheery word.

"As some one just remarked," he exclaimed, "this has a White House reception skinned to death."

At another moment he would admonish the men that there was no need to crowd, "there'll be time to meet you all" and the men grinned and the train did not leave until the last man had been met.

The President and party retired shortly after an ovation at Pittsburg. The trip through Ohio was made during the late hours of the night.

SECOND WARDERS ENTERTAIN MANY

A big crowd of visitors from all over the city last night inspected the commodious and elegantly furnished new club house of the Second Ward Republican Club at 1011 Market street, the former Aerie of the Eagles, and expressed unbounded admiration of the hospitable organization's quarters. A smoker and pinochle tournament enlivened the occasion and everybody was made feel perfectly at home.

The prize winners of the card-fest were as follows, according to Score-Keeper "Dick" Ramsey who kept tally on a sheet of handsome wall paper:

First prize, Harry Thompson, Second ward, 416; second prize, S. Knecht, Liberty Park, 391; third prize, H. Kurtz, Liberty Park, 375; fourth prize, H. Burk, Liberty Park, 370; fifth, known as the "pigs-knuckle" prize was lathered in by Barber Abe Lutz.

Alpha vs. Tuxedo To-night.

The Alpha pool team will journey to the home of the Tuxedo Club to-night to play the "Tux's" pool team. A great game is expected as this is the first event of any kind that has occurred between these two popular clubs.

Eastlack's CATERING

Is satisfactory from beginning to end. This means that if you employ us to do your Catering for any kind of a function, from the smallest luncheon to the biggest banquet, you'll find that everything will be just to your liking and better, perhaps, than you expected. The quality of the viands will be above criticism and generous as to quantities; the service will be irreproachable; and the moderate cost will be a pleasant surprise.

Our banquet room is at your service free of charge if you wish to entertain elsewhere than at your home.

We submit menus and estimates on request.

Young Girl Who Tried Suicide is Given Good Advice by "Al" Gravenor.

GIVEN INTO CUSTODY OF HER RELATIVES

Laura Hain, the young woman of Reading, Pa., who attempted suicide on last Tuesday night at the residence of her sister, 913 Cherry street, by inhaling illuminating gas, was not detained at Police Headquarters very long late yesterday afternoon after being taken into custody by Detective Moffett on her discharge from Cooper Hospital.

The mother, a brother and three sisters of the recovered girl were at Cooper Hospital when she was called for by Detective Moffett and manifested chagrin and resentment at her being required to answer at Police Headquarters, but they were mollified on the assurance that it was all for the best. And so it turned out to be, as after an interview with Chief of Police Gravenor in which the now thoroughly-repentant girl was given some wholesome advice by which she promised to abide, she was released from restraint. A cab took Miss Hain, her mother, brother and sisters to the Reading Terminal, where the 4.35 p. m. train was taken for her home, at 116 Elm street, Reading, Pa.

The brother of the girl derided the rumor that his sister tried to end her life because of a disappointment in love. He said the attempt was due to despondency caused by the death of a girl chum who was laid at rest in a Reading cemetery the very day that her disconsolate companion sought surcease of sorrow by gas suffocation in this city.

WHAT'S DOIN' IN NORTH CAMDEN

With impressive services conducted by Alfonso Dare, pastor of Bethany M. E. Church, the funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth Matilda White, wife of Fireman James White, who died suddenly, Tuesday, after an attack of convulsions, took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock from her husband's residence, 328 North Tenth street Handsome floral designs were sent in profusion. The services were largely attended by relatives and friends and many members of the Linden Baptist Church, of which Mrs. White was also a devout member. The Walt Whitman Social was also well represented at the services.

Two firemen of Company 5, two members of the Walt Whitman Social and three neighbors acted as honorary pall-bearers.

Three wagon loads of furniture and stock were delivered this morning at the Childs Company's new store, Ninth and Fern streets, built by the Lorigan-Hurley Company. The store is artistically papered, in fact it presents an extraordinary appearance that one might expect to find elsewhere than in a grocery store

This is but an example of the modern way the Childs Company have in dealing with the public They not only provide things pleasing to the palate but also stores that are pleasing to the eye.

The new store will be stocked and ready for the reception of the public next Friday and it would be wise to watch their announcement in this paper.

SPECIAL SERMON TO HOLY NAME SOCIETY

The Holy Name Society attached to the Church of the Immaculate Conception will meet on Sunday evening in the church at 7.30. There will be a special sermon preached and a special program of music will be given. This society numbers over 250 members.

SEYMOUR ON TEAR GETS TWO MONTHS

Friend Mapes, of 811 Market street, yesterday afternoon had Policeman Middleton arrest Edward Seymour, a character who terrorizes the neighborhood when on a "jag." Yesterday he invaded the second-hand store at 811 Market street with a pugnacious "bun" aboard and when Mr Mapes ordered him out he gave him the Jiu-Jutsi trip Then he smashed in the door of his sister's home nearby and kicked up such a rumpus that his mother fell in a swoon

Recorder Stackhouse first held the terrorizer in $300 bail to answer a charge of assault and battery on Friend Mapes, but later changed it to a two months sentence in jail.

GOES THROUGH GLASS ON LEAVING SALOON

In tumbling out of a saloon on Third street near Taylor avenue last evening, Paul Geserick, lunged through a bulk window and got locked up

In Police Court this morning Bartender William Stanton stated that if Geserick paid for the glass he did not care to press a charge against him. Geserick said his wife would pay the damages but Recorder Stackhouse told him to stand back until he found out whether she would or not.

CAPE MAY WOMAN BEING SOUGHT HERE

Alice MacKissie, a married woman of Cape May, was reported at Police Headquarters last night as having disappeared from her home on last Sunday. Anyone possessing information of her whereabouts is requested to notify Robert Marshall, of 624 North Second street, this city.

The missing woman is described as being 35 years of age, weighs 120 pounds, has light complexion, brown hair and false teeth.

YOUNG WOMAN HALTS WANDERING HORSE

A very pretty exhibition of presence of mind and humane feeling for a dumb animal, was witnessed at Seventh and Washington streets opposite Police Headquarters yesterday afternoon.

A horse attached to a laundry wagon with no driver on the seat, stalked leisurely across the tracks of the electric railroad. Fortunately no train was passing at the time or lots of customers of the concern would be minus their linen to-day, to say nothing of what would have happened to the wandering steed and wagon.

Just as the team cleared the tracks, however, a refined appearing young lady just about to enter her residence at 704 Washington street, turned and noticing the absence of a driver, ran out in the street and catching the horse by the bridle led it submissively to the curb. The gentle steed seemed to enjoy being the fair young lady's captive for it poked out its snoot to be patted and whinnied as if simply delighted.

The driver not putting in an appearance, the lady climbed in the wagon and getting a blanket threw it over the straying steed, buckling the strap in front securely. The horse pricked up its ears and whinnied that it was fine as silk.

Detective Moffett was an observer of the interesting scene from a Police Headquarters' window and hastening out took charge of the team until the driver showed up about twenty minutes later. The driver said that the horse ambled away while he was delivering laundry at the Carteret Apartment House, Sixth and Washington streets.

CORPSE OF AN INFANT IN PENSAUKEN WOODS

The body of a male infant, apparently a few days old, was found this morning in a woods at Pensauken, by a man employed on the farm of John Pidgeon, of North Merchantville

Coroner Wingender found no evidence that it had been foully dealt with and the Coroner is of the belief that death was due to natural causes. He brought the body to the Morgue.

MOTHER OF INFANT CHARGES DESERTION

Jesse Gindhart, formerly of 1547 Carman street, was arrested yesterday by Detective Carroll, on a warrant issued by Justice D. Frank Garrison on a charge of desertion preferred by his wife.

Gindhart was arrested at 1127 East Berks street, Philadelphia, where he had been living with a step-sister He is alleged to have deserted his wife in December. Two weeks ago Mrs. Gindhart gave birth to a child.

Gindhart was taken to the Central Station where he will be held to await requisition papers

ELMER FOLKS WERE QUICKLY MARRIED

This is a plain fact, and nearly everybody is talking about. Read carefully, and tell it to your neighbors: James Knight told his brother, Tom, that he overheard Jack Bailey whispering to his friend Wesley S. Breece in the presence of George Martin and Sam Ivins that Charles Goodwin was getting ready to tell Jack Gravenstine and Everett Galbraith what Elwood Samuels was talking about, and Emerson Hale stepped up to corroborate the statement made by Walter Levis, who was conversing with Frank Pricklitt, when Bob Parvin, the latter's new son-in-law, confidentially said to Charles McKeone that Ike West was spreading it to Johnny McMorrow, and he, of course, not able to keep a secret, hinted to George Otis, and John Griffis and Bill Mead happened to catch on and let it slip to Ed. Freeman and he had a secret confab with Edward McCready, when Sud Norcross reiterated to "Knuck" Johnson, who immediately telephoned out to the City Hall for an officer to arrest any man, woman or child who is not already a reader of the Post-Telegram and compel them to be a permanent subscriber, and not only that, but they should read every advertisement, and purchase from the merchants who are not afraid to tell of their goods. This is patented and official.

Miss Mary E. Dwyer, one of Salem's young ladies, is spending some time in this city, being the guest of her brother, John Dwyer.

William A. Kelley, of 729 Birch street, the popular secretary-treasurer of the Linden Greeting, celebrated his birthday on Wednesday evening. As had been the custom in the past Mr. Kelley knew that his wife would have some sort of entertainment in honor of the occasion. He did not have much to say the next day, but from a wireless source the following was learned: The first game played was called "Laying the Hall and Stair Carpet." Another interesting game was "Placing the Dining Room Rug." About this time our hero broke away and wended his way to the Tenth Ward Republican Club, where after wrestling with the goat for a season, he was declared a full-fledged Republican of the Tenth ward. Mr. Kelley is of very doubtful age.

The remains of Charles Phile, aged 49 years, who was summoned by death on Wednesday, will be taken to the Chruch of the Immaculate Conception, Sixth and Market streets, to-morrow morning where high mass will be celebrated at 9 o'clock. Funeral from his late residence, 621 Line street, at 8 a. m. Interment at Calvary Cemetery.

Joseph Gates and daughter, who spent several days with relatives at Newport, have returned to their Camden home after a pleasant visit.

One of Camden's former citizens, Rev. Benjamin C. Lippincott, Jr., who was well and prominently known throughout the entire city, but now having a charge in a Methodist Episcopal church at Red Bank, was secured by Mayor Appleby, of Asbury Park, to be the speaker at the Lincoln Centenary exercises, which are to be held in Library Hall, at that resort, this afternoon, at 2.30 o'clock. His subject was "Life and Character of Lincoln." Dr. Lippincott is a man of rare oratorical powers and an impressive talker. He has occupied pulpits in various churches in this city on several occasions, and his numerous friends will be pleased to learn of his being selected to deliver an address on an important subject.

The announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Alice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Russell, of Elmer, to Mr. Leslie Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Foster, which was solemnized in Camden on January 28th. Lislie is employed at the State Hospital at Norristown, Pa., and has many friends in the Northeast, who extend their congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Foster.

Mrs. William McFarland is entertaining at her Camden home for a brief period her niece, Miss Verna Ackley, from Elmer.

Woman Injured Boarding Car.

While attempting to board a trolley car at Broadway and Federal street yesterday afternoon at 4.30 o'clock, Mrs. M. Smith, of 2118 Miller street, was thrown violently against the side of the car and thence to the asphalt pavement. She was taken to West Jersey Homeopathic Hospital, but refused to stay there and was later taken home. Dr. Grant E Kirk, of Broadway and Ferry avenue, was called in and found she was suffering from a dislocated shoulder and shock This morning she was reported as resting comfortably.

Her time was 3 36 2-5, with her opponent a quarter of a lap behind.

TURKS FACING SECOND CRISIS

Reports from Constantinople Predict Overthrowing of the Present Administration.

DEBATE IN PARLIAMENT WILL FORCE A CLIMAX

By United Press Wire.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 12.—A complete change in the personnel of the Turkish administration is to-day imminent as a result of the debate, scheduled to take place in Parliament to-morrow over Grand Vizier Kiamil Pasha's removel on Wednesday of the Ministers of War and Marine.

The Young Turks, who have forced the interpellations, are now convinced that Turkey's continuance as a constitutional power depends on the immediate overthrow of Kiamil Pasha. They admit that they had intended to establish a temparary military dictatorship to overthrow the present ministry, the discovery of which intention forced Kiamil Pasha to make the Cabinet changes.

This dictatorship was to have been under the control of Yussuf Izsed Din Pasha and Ali Riza Pasha, the deposed Minister of War, and Hussin Pasha, former Minister of Marine, were to have left their offices yesterday.

The establishment of a temporary dictatorship, the Young Turks say, was considered by them the only means by which the country could be saved from a return to despotism which Kiamil is now accused of favoring. Heretofore Kiamil Pasha has been considered a conservative type of the progressive party but he is now charged with being a pronounced reactionary.

Kiamil's coup on Wednesday has given him temporary control of the military power of the country, frustrating the attempt to establish a dictatorship. It is not believed possible for him to retain this power in the event of an adverse vote in Parliament to-morrow which the Young Turks are confident of obtaining.

The debate promises to be one of the fiercest ever held in Turkey and the outcome is considered doubtful. Hassan Fehmy, president of the Council, has resigned as a result of the acute situation and the Ministers of Justice, Interior and Finance declare that they will resign to-night.

The Committee of Union and Progress, commonly known as the Young Turks, and the Liberal nUion, another of the reform bodies, are in open clash. Kiamil is accused of siding with the latter.

CENTURY PINOCHLERS BEAT PHILADELPHIANS

On Wednesday evening the New Century Pinochle League teams journed to Philadelphia where they participated in a inter-city pinochle match with the Bohemian Club, at the home of Arthur Donnelly, 2339 North Sixth street. The games were hard fought and evenly contested and it was not until the last hand of the final game had been played that the Camden boys were declared the victors, after which Mr. Donnelly invited them to the dining room where a beautiful sight met their gaze. Directly over the door was the word "Welcome" illuminated by small incandescent lights from which hung huge streamers of purple and gold ribbon, the club's colors, being so artistically arranged as to form a shower of streamers over the table, and which, together with the potted plants, made a rather unique decoration.

After the guests had recovered from their surprise, they were bidden to be seated, and they did justice to a splendid repast, after which they proceeded to the parlor, and were entertained by a good array of talent, such as Messrs. Charles Shelby and William Diemunsch, cornetists, who gave several selections which were well received. Messrs. George Obert and Oscar Witte sang several selections from the popular operas and they were obliged to give several encores; Thomas O'Hara showed that he is a pianist of rare ability by the easy manner in which he manipulated the ivories. Arthur Donnelly rendered many difficult selections on the violin which was favorably commented on, and Daniel Timmons gave a number of humorous recitations which caused much laughter. William Rightsky concluded the evening's entertainment by clever impersonations of famous musicians, receiving rounds of applause.

The Camden boys enjoyed every minute of their visit and think that their Philadelphia cousins, to use the slang expression, are all to the grand. Among those present were Messrs. Oscar Witte, George Obert, William Rightsky, Arthur Donnelly, Mr. and Mrs. Donnelly, and Miss Donnelly, of Philadelphia; Thomas O'Hara, Daniel Timmons, Charles Shelley, William Diemunsch, George A. DuVal, of Camden.

HOW NEW YORK OBSERVED THE DAY

By United Press Wire.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Booming up the bay the sound of cannon from Forts Hamilton and Wadsworth and warships in the harbor early to-day, inaugurated the program of Lincoln Day celebrations in honor of the centennial of the first martyred President.

Programs appropriate to the occasion were conducted in every school in the city during the morning.

At the College of the City of New York, the day was selected as the occasion for the opening of the Historical Museum with an exhibition of Lincolniana. At New York University a memorial was held at which the speakers were Chancellor MacCracken and Professor Marshall S. Brown.

In three of the city schools Lincoln memorial tablets were unveiled during the morning and in Plymouth Church impressive exercises were held and the pew occupied by Lincoln was dedicated.

This afternoon the city will hold exercises appropriate to the occasion over which Mayor McClellan will preach.

To-night exercises will be held in schools, churches, synagogues and armories. At Cooper Union General Horace Porter will deliver an address and a chorus of seven hundred from the United German Singing Societies will sing.

The dinner of the Cooper Union Alumni to-night will be followed by speeches by Andrew Carnegie, Sir Caspar Purdon Clark, Frank C. Vanderlip and John E. Parsons.

Over six hundred individual meetings made up the program for the day and night.

STILL TRYING TO COMPLETE COOPER JURY

By United Press Wire.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 12.—The sixth venire, the last in the jury box, reported to-day in the trial of Colonel Duncan B. Cooper, Robt. J. Cooper and John D. Sharp, charged with the murder of former Senator Edward Carmack and when court opened the call began and an effort was made to place the required one and last juror in the jury box.

Despite the fact that the case has already dragged three weeks public interest has not abated and the court room and galleries were filled to their capacity. Should the jury be filled to-day or Saturday the taking of testimony will be begun Moday.

While same inkling of the lines along which the State will build its case has been had from the motions for bail, the taking of testimony will furnish enlightenment on many things that now are more conjectures and reveal the defense by which the Coopers and Sharp expect to clear themselves.

NOT SHOCKED BY THE OPERA 'SALOME'

After much fuss 'and feathers and preliminary balkiness, "Salome" got away at the Hammerstein Opera House, Philadelphia, last night. And "Salome" will be given there again, probably week after next, although Mayor Reyburn, to whom the ministers of this city protested and demanded he enforce his powers and prohibit the production, said to-day that if there was any further protest against the dance of the seven veils he would insist that it be tamed down a bit.

The audience that witnessed the performance was quite the largest and most representative of the present season. There was not room in the big house to hold the crowd that seemed willing to pay almost anything to get in. During the course of the opera, which ran a little longer than usual, not a word of protest was heard, no one fainted because of the sight, and not a single person cried "Enough!" On the contrary, the big audience was especially attentive and appreciative. Judged by the general attitude of the audience "Salome," as given last night, was considered a proper and fit opera for presentation despite the preliminary protests.

The audience, by its demonstrative behavior at the close of the performance, its repeated "Bravos," gave every evidence that it wished to see "Salome" again.

"WELCOME HOME" TO BILL WHITE

Five years ago, Bill White, a High School graduate and ex-captain and star of the foot ball team, decided that he wanted to be a farmer "according to Hoyle." And when you feel that way there's only one thing to do. And Bill did it. He entered the University of Wisconsin.

And now, by heck, he knows farming from the lowest common denomination to the 9th power. And a little thing like making two stalks of corn grow where only one apple tree grew before tells but in a feeble way the story of Wisconsin's course in agriculture.

But this is more about the University of Wisconsin and not enough about Bill, which may be very fine for the University but not quite fair to Mr White, so it is regularly moved and seconded, to say right out in meeting that Bill is "back home" for a while and that his old friend and classmate, Ned Sayford, entertained him last night at the Sayford home at 205 Pearl street. It was an old-fashioned glad-to-see-you-again party and those who were there were the Misses Grace Hankins, Nellie Hagen, Stella Cliver, Jennie Bryson, Laura White, Charlotte Desborough, Jennie Taylor, Messrs Ned H. Sayford, Walter Carson, Stanley Kimble, Julian Potter, George Bryson, A. D. Greenough and J. Milton Hess.

Bill is staying with his folks in Riverton and will leave for the West in a few days. He has had charge of a big dairy fifty miles from Milwaukee since his graduation.

With the exception of a few finishing touches, the annex to the North Baptist Library Building is completed. A short space of time was consumed to accomplish the task and the departments of the building will soon have more commodious space. This cramped condition has been felt in the past and when the opportunity was afforded, it was decided to double the space in the old building. Two houses adjoining on the right were utilized to advantage. They were entirely remodeled that they might be adopted to the various uses required in the operation of the old building.

The Library Building now includes Nos. 317-19-21-23 and the old entrance is used for the entire building, the entrance to the new additions being done away with.
